"A word to the wise is sufficient."
Is a maxim we've frequently heard;
And now what we want is a maxim
To tell us just what is that word.

It enjoins all dutiful fathers.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, MAY 26, 1897.

Is the Bourse Bankrupt?

The peculiarity of these figures is, they are the result of the business management of gentlemen prominent in business circles, all of whom have reaped a high degree of success in their own business; all of whom receive, and justly merit, the esteem and confidence of the business public.

If criticism is in order, we would suggest that it would have been only fair to the stockholders had there been something more than a general grouping of the expense and supply accounts. It would have been extremely satisfactory had the expense for the salaries of officials been specified; it would have disproved or confirmed the general rumor, that one of the officers is permitted to draw two salaries.

The management in their report very tersely emphasize the statement that they have signally failed to accomplish the results promised at the time subscriptions to the capital stock were invited; "for," they say, "your directors cannot do more than provide the facilities and carry out your ideas. The success of the Bourse depends upon you, and you alone!"

This is strange logic, to say the least. It is a reversal of the usual methods of corporations. If ideas and methods are to be relegated to stockholders, a chaotic condition must follow. We would, in all fairness, ask, if the stockholders must do the managing why should we employ a president at $6000 per year?

The report wholly confirms the statement heretofore made, editorially, in this journal; for it is evident, that the patriotic purposes for which the Bourse was organized have not only been entirely ignored, but that, from the inception, the whole scheme has been dominated by influences which have possessed an entire disregard of the capital limit to which the stockholders subscribed.

According to the sixth annual report of the treasurer of the Philadelphia Bourse, the corporation is bankrupt, as the following synopsis will show:

The cash balance on hand Jan. 1, 1896, was	$ 10,413.13
Money was borrowed during the year amounting to	97,148.00
Receipts from all sources were	223,579.70
Total cash receipts from all sources, including the $97,148.00 borrowed money	$381,140.83
There was expended during the year for all purposes	329,886.71
Cash balance on hand Dec. 31, 1896 $	1,254.12
According to the report, the Bourse under its present management lost in actual money during the year 1896 its cash balance of January 1, 1896, less the amount of cash on hand December 31, 1896, or	$ 9,159.01
It also lost money borrowed	97,148.00
Total net loss	$16,307.01

Or, in other words, it cost during 1896 $340.72 a day more than the receipts to keep the Bourse open during the 312 working days, or considerably more than that amount if the holidays are deducted.

Wendell & Smith, of Overbrook. These houses will be built of brick and stone, with slate roofs. They will be three stories high, with basements. When these dwellings are finished they will measure 30 x 60 feet. All the latest modern conveniences will be introduced. The proposed cost of these dwellings will not exceed $10,000 each. Same architect is also making plans for new stone walls, cement walks and curbing for Mathew Gill, Jr., Radnor, Pa., and these will be placed for estimates soon. Mr. Boyd has on boards drawings for work which will be noted at an early day.

Architect Horace Trumbauer, 310 Chestnut street, is preparing plans and specifications for a pair of colonial residences that are to be erected at Pelham, Philadelphia, by Messrs. Wendell & Smith, of Overbrook, Pa. These houses will be built of stone, with shingle roofs. They will be three stories high, with a basement. When finished these houses will have a frontage measuring 30 feet and a depth of 50 feet, respectively. All the latest and modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced, together with the following items: Combination hot water heating, electric work, including wiring, bells, annunciators, combination gas fixtures, tile and mosaic work, plumbing, bathroom fixtures, etc. The entire cost of this pair of dwellings will not exceed $18,000, including all sub-contracts. The owners, Messrs. Wendell & Smith, will let separate contracts. Mention will be made when bids are taken.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

McConaghy Bros., builders and owners, will at once begin erecting seventeen dwellings on the north side of Ritner and east side of Fourth street. These are to be two and three stories high, of brick, with brownstone trimmings, and the best modern conveniences on interior.

He is also going to build two two-story brick stores and dwellings, 16 and 18 x 49 feet, one at the southwest corner of Sixtieth and Reinhard streets, and the other at the northeast corner of Sixty-first and Reinhard streets.

In the matter of $30,000, left by Robert W. Ryers, late of Fox Chase, near this city, Judge Ashman has filed adjudication, and the sum is now available for a Protestant Episcopal Church, to be erected at Oxford, Pa. This bequest was made contingent upon a new congregation forming separately from Trinity Church at the above named place. It is likely the work of construction will now go on. The money available for the widening of Delaware avenue is $2,150,000, and of this amount $650,000 comes from the fund provided by Stephen Girard for the improvement of the Delaware River front. The additional $1,500,000 comes from the $2,000,000 Delaware Avenue loan, the other $500,000 being set aside for dredging the river.

The Sale of the Century

Times were very hard last Fall, just before the election of President McKinley. Manufacturers were glad to accept orders at cost rather than close down their mills.

Firm in the belief that the tide must soon turn, we ordered double quantities of piece goods from leading American mills at lowest prices ever quoted on American woolsens.

IN THIS, WE WERE ALONE

We are, therefore, enabled to inaugurate the GREATEST CLOTHING SALE of the CENTURY, which couples Worthiest Garments with the Saving of Cloth Weavers' and Clothing Dealers' Profits. Pray you, recall our 28 years of business truth-telling and truth-acting—and so, come, see and judge.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JUNE 2, 1897.

THE convention of the Agents of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, in honor of the bi-centennial birthday of that organization, which was held in Mercantile Library Hall on the 25th and 26th ultimo, was not only a decided success in point of attendance, but it was a gathering of as bright and brainy men and intelligent and astute workers as ever assembled in Philadelphia, and any company would justly feel proud of them.

The speeches were terse, witty and profound; in fact, the subject matter was not only well handled, but evinced a thorough knowledge of the business, as well as unusual cleverness in clearing up knotty problems and making important suggestions in the interest of the business of the company.

Good nature prevailed, and the audience, when not entranced with the oratory of the speakers, was delighted with their wit and humor. The gathering included representatives from all parts of the country, many of whom had visited this city for the first time. The arrangements were in the hands of Mr. Harry Lippincott, whose versatility enabled him to anticipate every wish of the company's many delighted guests, who have cause to remember the earnest hospitality of but one of Philadelphia's prominent institutions.

Found at Last—A Perfect Venetian Blind.

Those contemplating building and the public generally would do well to call on E. A. Waddy & Co., 1108, Btz Building, and examine the New York Self-Acting Venetian Blind. This Blind can be used inside or outside, and is so arranged that it can be raised or lowered by one cord, stopping at any angle. No friction on the cords, which makes it practically a blind that will last a lifetime with ordinary usage; is made in any kind of wood, painted any color; cabinet finish or China gloss. Suitable for the finest residences, schools, hotels, apartment houses and institutions of all kinds. Without a doubt this is the best Venetian Blind ever put on the market, and the low price at which they are sold should commend them to every one.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The Providence M. E. Church at Front street and Allegheny avenue was damaged to a great extent by fire on May 25th. It is understood a committee will be appointed at once to consider repairs and supervise the same.

Several operations are on boards for estimate in the office of Warner H. Jenkins, 208 West Washington Square, among which are the plans for the office building to be erected at the southwest corner of Broad and Chestnut streets.

The building of the addition to the Philadelphia Saving Fund Society, at Seventh and Walnut streets, will likely be delayed for some time, owing to losses on 708 Walnut street being valid until the latter part of the current year, unless amicable arrangements can be made. Work noted in full previously.

Mr. Jamieson, West Main street, Norristown, Pa., is letting separate contracts on four houses that are to be built in Norristown. These houses will be built of brick, with stone trimmings and tin roofs. They will be two-and-a-half stories high, with basements. All the latest improvements and conveniences will be introduced. The cost will be about $4500 each.

Estimates are being made in the office of Charles McCaul, 10 North Eleventh street, for a large casino to be erected at Woodside Park. The building will be 200 x 100 feet, three stories high, with a dome in the centre, and constructed of brick and wood. Mr. McCaul will soon start work upon the alterations and additions to Boothby's Hotel, which has been fully noted in a previous issue of this journal.

Messrs. Jacob Myers & Son, Juniper and Sansom streets, have plans in their office for an addition to a store building on Chestnut street, above Eleventh, for Mr. Louis Dreks. of this city. This addition will be built of brick, with a tin roof. It will be one-story high. The general contract will include attaching present heating, lighting, plumbing, gas piping, etc., to this addition. Private plans.

Owner and Builder Jay S. Heisler will at once put up forty-seven two-story brick and brownstone stores and dwellings in the Thirty-eighth ward. Twenty-eight of the houses will be built on the east and west sides of Croskey street, between Clearfield and Park streets; and thirteen are to go up on the west side of Twenty-second street, between Clearfield and Park streets. Of this batch six will be stores and dwellings. They will be erected at the southeast corner of Twenty-second and Park streets, and at the northwest corner of Clearfield and Park streets. The other four stores and dwellings are to be built at the southeast and southwest corners of Clearfield and Park streets, and at the northeast and northwest corners of Clearfield and Croskey streets.

A wholesale mania for building has seized the property owners of Atlantic City, and if it continues Atlantic avenue, the main thoroughfare, will be completely metamorphosed within the next two years. While the operations are not of the stupendous order, they are of that character which tends strongly to beautify the city. Since the first of the year a score of ornate brick structures have sprung up in different parts of the city. There are a half dozen more now in different stages of construction. The Bucharach-Shinn building, on Atlantic avenue, near Kentucky avenue, is almost completed, and is a handsome addition to the ornamental business structures on the thoroughfare. Work has been begun upon the big store which Conrow & Leeds are putting up, at the corner of Atlantic and States avenues. It will be three stories in height, 50 feet front and 100 feet deep. Architect W. H. Hoopes is drawing the plans for a handsome brick and stone building, to be erected by Oliver H. Guttridge, on Atlantic avenue, between South Carolina and Tennessee avenues. This will be the only building in the city erected on the modern plan of steel frame work with brick filling. It will be 25 feet front and 150 feet deep and three stories in height. The building is to be completed by January 1.

The Supreme Court having dismissed the appeal of the heirs of the Freeman estate from the order of the Orphans Court to the Girard Trust Company to make a fifty-year improvement lease of the southeast cor. of Broad and Chestnut streets to Henry G. Freeman, Jr., work on the new structure will doubtless be started at once. The plans have been made, and a permit already granted to Contractors J. E. and A. L. Pennock to go on with the work. The new building will be a magnificent structure, fire-proof throughout and provided with all modern conveniences. It will be sixteen stories high, with over 600 offices, and will cost about $1,250,000. Its height will be 195 feet, with 108 feet front on Chestnut and 128 feet on Broad street. An L in the rear will extend back 148 ft. from Chestnut street front. The Real Estate Trust Company are connected with Mr. Freeman in the new building. Their present building will not be torn down, but will be built over as a portion of the office building. All the other structures on the site will be demolished, the tenants having been given notice over a month ago. The first three stories will be built of granite, to conform with the architecture of the present trust building. Above the third story Pompeian brick and terra cotta trimmings will be used. Two of the upper stories will be built with circular shaped windows and finished very ornately with terra cotta work. The roof will be flat, surrounded by a very ornamental coping. The main entrance is to be on Chestnut street, a broad marble colonnade, twenty feet wide, extending the whole depth of the building. There will be five elevators, and the fifteen office floors will each have forty-one office rooms, a total of 615. The first four floors will be 15, 20, 15 and 14 feet in height, respectively, and the remainder of the floors will be 10 and 10½ feet in height. It is understood that the Real Estate Trust Company will have control of and may occupy the entire first floor and basement. Previously noted in full in these columns.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

[Too late for Classification.]

The large tract of land at Cynwyd Station, owned by G. W. Barr, has been purchased by C. J. McIlvain, Jr., the architect, and G. Albert Niemann. The property has always attracted much attention on account of its beautiful surroundings, its accessibility to West Park and the city, and especially for its high location, it being said that Cynwyd is the highest point within fifteen miles of Philadelphia. It is understood the owners propose subdividing the tract and offering for sale building lots of one-quarter acre and upwards. The firm proposes to immediately erect fifteen houses ranging in price from $4500 to $10,000.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the State will seriously affect a large amount of city work of a public character and prevent a continuance. Among these are improvements of suburban roads; completion of Boys' High School and new school buildings; main sewers; art gallery; improvement of gas works; library site and building; building new almshouse; abolishing grade crossings on Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad; Philadelphia Museum; improvement of water supply; extension of Fairmount Park; repaving streets; new bridges; improving public parks; fire and police stations; grading and repairs to paved streets; $600,000 for bridges; a filtration plant. The question of applying for a re-argument will be considered at once.

Wants.

At Boonton, N. J., Charles A. Norris, president of the Board of Education, will receive bids until June 7, for the erection of a new school building.

F. C. Sauer, architect, Hamilton Building, Pittsburg, Pa., will receive bids until June 12, for the erection of St. Peter's school building at Allegheny, Pa.

At Mahanoy City, Pa., John M. Kutz, chairman of the Street Committee, will receive bids until June 7th for eight blocks of vitrified brick paving.

At Ironton, O., bids will be received until June 23d for the construction of sewers in the Fourth district. George H. Davis, city engineer, can give information.

At Mercer, Pa., the commissioners of Mercer county will receive proposals until June 10th for the construction of five iron bridges, ranging in length from 35 to 180 feet.

At Pittsburg, bids will be received until June 12, 1897, for removing operating valves and rope devices on four elevators and replacing the same with combination water chests and automatic water stops. Bids to be addressed to county commissioners.

At Philadelphia, Pa., the American Pipe Manufacturing Company, office second floor Fidelity Mutual Life Association Building, Broad street, will receive bids until June 4, 1897, for the construction of a 4,000,000 gallon distributing reservoir near Morton, Delaware county, Pa. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the chief engineer, J. W. Ledoux, after June 1st. An approximate estimate is as follows: 8256 cubic yards of embankment, 1032 cubic yards of puddle on bottom, 810 cubic yards of concrete, 66 cubic yards of rubble masonry, 2482 square yards of seeding, masonry, gate house, fencing, etc.

Miscellaneous.

At Revere, Mass., a new town hall will be erected, to cost about $80,000, from plans prepared by Cobb & Greenleaf, of Boston.

At Elmira, N. Y., extensive improvements will be made to the reformatory, the governor having signed a bill appropriating $25,000 for that purpose.

At Atlanta, Georgia, it is reported that G. V. Gress will erect a six-story building to be used for business purposes on Whitehall street, between Hunter and Mitchell streets. The estimated cost is $75,000.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JUNE 9, 1897.

Avondale Marble Ahead.

Pennsylvania may well be proud of the position she has assumed in the product of an unequalled quality of marble, produced from the celebrated Avondale Quarries, located at Avondale, Chester county, in this State. This great underlying stratum of beautiful stone, adapted as it is for buildings, monumental and general purposes of embellishment, has been finally put upon the market, and has been selected as the chief material for the exterior walls of the public buildings and courthouse at Paterson, N. J.

This is an endorsement of an opinion given some two or three years ago by that eminent scientist and geologist, Professor Koehnig, in which he assumed the broad ground of the superiority of Avondale marble over either the best products of this country or the great Carrara stone of Italy. The Avondale marble is especially noted for its power of resistance to crushing test, its perfect freedom from any foreign ingredient, which, subsequent to its use, tends to mar its beauty or destroy durability, its great hardness and susceptibility to polish, all of which are essential to a choice in selecting fine stone for either public or private uses. Such an endorsement as the above contract will carry with it, after a rigid competition, is a recommendation richly deserved and highly complimentary to the company which operates and owns these quarries.

Architect Notes.

Frederick McCormick has made plans for a handsome theatre to be erected at South Main and South streets, at a cost of about $45,000. Abram Nesbitt, Edward Gunstner and others are interested in the project.

Architect Robeson Lea Perot, 619 Philadelphia Bourse, has awarded the contract for erecting a residence for Joseph S. Perot, Esq., on Haines street, near the Old York road, to Wm. J. Gruhler, details of which were previously noted.

H. Van Houten, of Paterson, N. J., has been awarded the general contract to build the new court house at Paterson, N. J. S. B. Reed, 240 Broadway, New York City, is the architect who drew the plans, a full description of which has been given in these columns previously.

Architect P. P. Elkinton is receiving estimates for the erection of the Third Christian Church, West Philadelphia. The same architect has prepared plans for a bank and office building at Plainfield, N. J., and is engaged on plans for a large warehouse, with sales offices, for a Philadelphia firm.

Architect J. D. Allen, 1017 Chestnut street, is preparing plans and specifications for a casino that is to be built at Pittsburg, Pa., for a stock company of that place. This casino will be built of iron, brick and frame, with a shingle roof. It will be three stories high and cost about $105,000.

Architects Field & Medary, 1416 South Broad street, have finished plans and are taking bids on a residence that is to be erected at Overbrook for Arthur Platte, of this city. It will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with basement. When completed this residence will measure 20 x 60 feet.

Architects J. F. Stuckert & Son, 49 North Thirteenth street, have finished plans and are taking bids on an alteration to a residence in the vicinity of Seventeenth and Jefferson streets. When alterations are finished this residence will have a brick and stone front. It will be three stories high, with a basement. All the latest improvements will be introduced. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architects Hewitt Bros., Bullitt Building, have finished plans and are taking bids on an alteration to a hospital at Front and Lehigh avenue for the Protestant Episcopal Church. This alteration will include a general remodeling of present hospital on the interior, including new plumbing, interior painting, tile work, heating, electrical work, etc. George Payne & Co., 401 South Juniper street, have plans in their office and are estimating. Formerly mentioned.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

A. K. Scott, of this city, will erect ten houses in the southern part of Philadelphia. These houses will be built of brick, two stories high.

John C. Brooks is erecting sixteen handsome dwellings at Forty-fifth street and Osage avenue, and has awarded the plumbing and gas fitting to J. J. Nesbitt & Co.

Harry Saunders, builder, is about to start the erection of ten dwellings on the north side of Hamilton street, west of Sixty-third street. These to be of brick, stone trimmings and best conveniences.

F. A. Poth, brewer and builder, will continue his building operations by erecting ten more dwellings on Viola street, east of Belmont avenue. These are in addition to others erected in that vicinity by the same owner.

John Stafford, the well-known builder, is about to erect two handsome buildings at the northeast corner of Fifteenth and Lombard streets. These will be of ornamented brick and stone, and best modern conveniences on interior.

Contractors Murphy & McCairn will commence work on the erection of two two-story brick dwellings, each 16 x 40 feet, on the north side of Dyer street, east of Frankford avenue, in the Twenty-third ward, for Charles E. Reese, owner.

Contractor M. McManus will at once begin a new public school house at the southeast corner of Thirteenth and Porter streets. It will be three stories high, 165 x 87 feet, and will be constructed of granite with a peak roof. It will cost $66,749.

Lewis Havens, contractor, is about to make extensive alterations to the interior and entrance of the Harrison Building, at the northwest corner of Tenth and Market streets, to adapt it to the business of Young, Smyth, Field & Co., the new tenants.

Measures have been introduced in City Councils asking for appropriations as follows: A new steam heating plant for the old County Prison, at Tenth and Reed streets; also for a new school house at Howard and Cambria streets, and one at "G" and Ontario streets.

Harry P. Anderson, builder, will soon begin the erection of sixteen dwellings on north side of Baltimore avenue, between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets. These are to be of stone and fancy colored brick, and possess every feature of comfort and convenience.

Col. Joseph M. Bennett has given eight acres of land to the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged, near the Gentlemen's Driving Park, and it is understood when they can dispose of their present site at Thirteenth and Lehigh avenue, a move will be made and new buildings of course erected.

Plans for the new Eden Methodist Episcopal Church, to be erected at Lawrence street and Lehigh avenue, were submitted to the Building Inspectors by J. Madstone Holmes. The building will be of stone, one story high, 88 x 98 feet, and will have a square tower, 16 x 16 feet, 76 feet 53 inches high.

Joshua Brown, of Philadelphia, who recently purchased Dr. Pleasant's farm of 135 acres, in Radnor, for $28,000, is making extensive improvements to the tract. The entire farm is being graded and terraced. One of the handsomest residences in the State will be built on the highest point. It will be constructed of marble. An immense stable will be erected. The improvements, it is said, will cost $20,000.

James Mann & Co., Thirtieth and Locust streets, have been awarded the contract for all brown stone work on the following operations for Mr. John Stafford: One hundred and eight two and three-story dwellings at Twenty-eighth and Oxford streets, six three-story dwellings at Twenty-third and Locust streets, fourteen three-story dwellings at Sixteenth and Norris streets, and two dwellings at Fifteenth and Lombard streets.

Architect Notes.

Walter Smedley, architect, 435 Chestnut street, has made plans for a Friends' meeting house to be erected at Moorestown, N. J. The structure will be two stories high, colonial in style, hot air heat, slate roof, seating and furniture for auditorium, etc. Estimates are now being made in offices of contractors.

J. M. C. Shrock, architect, 421 Chestnut street, has completed plans for a very large six-story factory to be erected at Thirtieth and Moore streets, and bids are about to be taken on the work. The structure will be of brick, stone and iron construction, fitted with steam and elevator lifts, as well as all up-to-date accommodations. The owner's name is withheld for the present.

Architect S. C. Boyer, 913 Walnut street, has finished preliminary plans and specifications for some houses that are to be built in the vicinity of Sixty-third street and Virginia avenue, Overbrook, Philadelphia. These houses will be three stories high, and will be built of brick and stone, with shingle and slate roofs. All the latest modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced.

Architects Schermerhorn & Rhinehold, 430 Walnut street, have finished plans and are taking bids for a store and residence that is to be built at Bala for Mr. Andrew A. Anderson, of that place. This store and residence will be built of brick and frame, with a slate roof. It will be two and one-half stories high, with a basement. Every modern convenience will be introduced. The owner is taking estimates, and will award the general contract.

Architect E. F. Bertollette, Heed Building, has awarded the general contract for a hosiery mill that is to be erected at the corner of Division and Thompson streets, for Edward B. Sutto, of Edgemont street, this city, to Contractor George J. Deitrich, 939 North Seventh street. This mill will be built of brick, with a slag roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement, and when completed will measure 45 x 100 feet. Previously noted.

Architects Cope & Stewardson, 320 Walnut street, have finished plans for an alteration and addition to a hospital located at the corner of Chew and Penn streets, Germantown, for the Germantown Dispensary and Hospital. The alteration will include interior work, etc. The addition will be built of brick, two stories high. All the latest improvements in heating, lighting, plumbing, ventilating, etc., will be included in the general contract. The cost of this alteration and addition will not exceed $18,000. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architect Harry Peale, Harrison Building, has finished final drawings and specifications for an operation of about a dozen houses which are to be built in the vicinity of Forty-ninth street and Florence avenue for Mr. H.

A. Weekey, Mutual Life Building, this city. These houses will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornices and tin roofs. They will be three stories high, with basement. All the latest modern conveniences will be introduced. The owner is taking bids, and it is probable that he will let separate contracts.

Architects Field & Medary, 1416 South Penn Square, have awarded Messrs. Wendell & Smith, of Overbrook, the contract for the erection of a residence at that place for Mr. Arthur Platt, of this city. The residence will be built of brick and stone, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. When completed this residence will measure 30 x 40 ft. All the latest improvements and conveniences will be introduced, including combination gas fixtures, electrical work, tile and mosaic work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, plumbing, bath-room fixtures, etc.

The award for the erection of a sixteen-story office building, to be erected for the Land Title and Trust Company, has been made to Charles McCaul. This very high building will be built at the southwest corner of Broad and Chestnut streets, and will be one of the most imposing office structures in the country. The walls of the two lower stories will be of light granite, above which light gray brick will be used. The trimming will be of white terra cotta. In the interior Italian marble will be used for the floors, corridors, walls, etc. The building will be equipped with every modern convenience, and will be provided with eight elevators.

Architect J. H. Windrim, 1107 Walnut street, has taken estimates and awarded Messrs. Doyle & Doak, 133 South Fifteenth street, the contract for the erection and completion of an office building that is to be erected at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Walnut streets for the Real Estate, Title and Trust Company of this city. This office building will be built on the latest principles of fire proofing construction. It will be built of stone, brick, terra cotta and iron, six stories high, with a basement. It will have a frontage on Walnut street measuring 45 feet, and a frontage on Twelfth street of about 100 feet. Fully noted in a previous issue.

Architect H. D. Dagit, 435 Chestnut street, has revised plans, and revised estimates are now being taken on a church which is to be built at Haddon Heights, N. J., for St. Rose's Roman Catholic Church, of that place. This church will be built of stone, with slate roof. It will be one story high, with a gallery and basement. It will measure 30 x 80 feet. The following items will be included in the general contract: Excavating, masonry and brick work, slate roofing, mill and carpenter work, plumbing, painting, glazing, hardware, heating, lighting, etc. The project was formerly mentioned, but has been abandoned for some time. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architect Guy King, 431 Walnut street, has taken bids and awarded the general contract to George Stewart, 230 Diamond street, for the erection and completion of a residence at Prevost, Pa., for William Scattergood, of this city. This residence will be of brick and frame, with a shingle roof. It will be two and a half stories high and measure 30 by 40 feet. All the latest modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced and are included in this contract, including hot air heating, electrical work, gas fixtures, tile work, plumbing, bath-room fixtures, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, interior decorating, etc. Mention made previously of this work.

F. Miles Day & Bro., architects, 925-27 Chestnut street, have placed the plans for the new house of Mrs. Clement B. Newbold, at 1313 Locust street, on boards of contractors for estimate. This will be practically a four-story structure, of stone and brick, slate roof and highly ornamented on exterior and interior, hard woods of various kinds, tile, mosaic and marble work, stained and plate glass, finest system of heating and plumbing, iron grille work, speaking tubes and electric work throughout; in fact, every modern comfort and convenience. The drawings may be seen at offices of Roydhouse, Arey & Co., Master Builders' Exchange, and a few other general contractors.

Architect J. F. Stuckert & Son, 49 north Thirteenth street, have awarded the contract to Maurice Smith, of Elwyn, Pa., for an addition to a church at Glen Mills, Pa., for the Coombs Memorial Church, of that place. This addition will be built of brick and stone, with a slate roof. It will be one-story high, with a basement, and will measure about 20 x 70 feet. Details previously given.—The same architects have awarded the contract for an alteration to a residence on Jefferson street for Edward Furth, 1707 Jefferson street, to Contractor Humphries. The alterations will include interior work, cement work, painting, glazing, etc. Mention was made when plans were finished and when bids were taken.

Contractors are estimating on the construction of the new Free Museum of Science and Art, for the University of Pennsylvania, on South street, opposite Thirty-third. The building, it is estimated, will cost $500,000, and will be three stories high, of brick and terra cotta, with peaked roof. A court yard will lead from the street to the main entrance, which will be in a central rotunda, 100 feet in diameter. In dimensions the building will be 260 x 350 ft. The structure will be of brick, stone and iron, and contain every appliance for comfort and convenience. The plans were jointly prepared by Cope & Stewardson, F. Miles Day & Bro. and Wilson Eyre, Jr., architects of this city. James J. Ryan took out a permit several weeks ago to build the foundations. The permit also called for the general erection of the building.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JUNE 16, 1897.

ON July 7th next, the REAL ESTATE RECORD will make its regular semi-annual report of building operations and sales of real estate for 1897.

This issue always affords unusual opportunities for advertisers, as our aim is to place a copy of the paper in the hands of those who are deeply interested in the growth and prosperity of our city.

These reports are an essential factor in controversies that are constantly arising regarding the growth of cities, and while Philadelphia makes little pretension as to her decided lead in the number of new buildings erected yearly, yet her claims are so well founded, and have been so effectively established, that those who know whereof they speak have ceased to question them.

Chicago is now shouted on the trains two hours before the train reaches the terminal. New York must now be called amidst the farm lands of Westchester county and within the deafening roar of the wild billows of the Atlantic, or else how can a greater New York effectually demonstrate its meaning? The corporate limits of the metropolis have been extended so as to take in about every town and village within an hour's reach by fast express train, and the most will be made of her quick get-great methods.

The Snellenburg Stores.

The improvements to be done to the block of stores owned by the Girard Trust, at Twelfth and Market streets, of which a part has for years been occupied by N. Snellenburg & Company, will involve a cost of $150,000. The alterations will embrace the tearing down of the brick walls between the six stores, the changing of the fronts to conform to those of their present stores and the introduction of a number of those now in use. Metal ceilings will be required, and, of course, improved store fixtures will be added; also new front windows on the second floor, together with new electric work, plumbing and drainage. The offices, on the fourth floor, will be handsomely finished in hard woods, and the fifth and sixth floors, representing an area of 86,000 square feet, will be devoted to the manufacture of clothing. The plans, drawn by Architect James H. Windrim, will probably be ready to submit to the firm's consideration in the course of a week.

The firm is not at present prepared to state just what other branches will be introduced, but the sentiment favors a large general store of a character which will commend itself to the buying public. The characteristic energy of the firm will certainly express itself in maintaining for this new enterprise a standard of variety and excellence for its stock in keeping with its well merited reputation, justly earned by many years of careful service and liberal dealing with a very large part of the general public.

Architect Notes.

Architect James Steen, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has finished plans and is taking bids on a $30,000 store and apartment house that is to be built at Connellsville, Pa., for Mr. P. W. Newmeyer, of that place.

Isaac Pursell, architect, 119 south Fourth street, is receiving estimates on a house to be erected at Darby for John J. Tyler. To be brick and stone and fitted with all conveniences, etc. Noticed in a previous issue.

Messrs Hale & Ballinger, architects, S. W. corner 12th and Chestnut streets, have given out the contract for alterations and additions to the factory of the Lehigh Manufacturing Co., at Fourth street and Lehigh avenue. This work has been noted previously.

George Plowman, architect, 1012 Betz Building, has completed plans for alterations to house 127 South Broad street for Eugene Raymond. This contemplates a new front and some minor interior work, upon which estimates are being made in offices of general contractors.

C. J. McIlvain, Jr., and Chas. H. Roberts, associated architects, 209 South Sixth street, have awarded Edward Pierson the contract for a fine stone residence, 55 x 30 feet, to be built at Cynwyd for Mr. J. E. Farmer. The contractor is to finish the house complete, with the exception of the grading.

C. D. Kimble, of Honesdale, Pa., is making plans and will superintend the construction of an opera house, 40 x 70 feet, 21 foot ceiling, to be built at White Mills, Wayne county, for William Smith, proprietor of the National Hotel, White Mills, Pa. It will have a gallery, and be equipped with all the necessary appliances required for a first-class playhouse. The foundation is already laid.

Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut street, is engaged on plans for alterations to the first floor of the Girard Building, at Broad and Chestnut streets. These consist of tearing out partition walls and enlargement of the present banking rooms, quite a deal of mosaic work, tile and marble work, grille work of iron and brass, electric lighting and wiring. New office furniture, vaults and every convenience will be introduced. No contracts have been let.

Engineer and Architect John A. Patterson, 420 Walnut street, has finished plans, specifications, sections, etc., for a bridge that is to be erected across the Susquehanna river at Catawissa, Pa., for the State of Pennsylvania. It will be constructed of steel on stone foundations and piers. It will be about 1900 feet long. Estimates are now being taken. The cost of this bridge will not exceed $50,000. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architect J. William Shaw, 16 South Broad street, has finished final drawings for a residence that is to be built at Washington, Pa., for Mr. John H. McIlvaine, of that place. This residence will be built of brick, with stone trimmings. It will be three stories high, with a basement. The interior finish of the first and second stories will be of hard wood. The remaining portion of the residence will be finished in white pine. All the latest modern conveniences will be introduced.

Architects Hazelhurst & Huckel, Girard Building, have just awarded John R. Wiggins the contract to erect a large and handsome house and stable at Wayne, Delaware county, Pa., for Mr. William W. Wood, of that place. The residence will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. When finished it will measure 40 x 80 feet. All the latest modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced, including hot water heating, electrical work, such as combination gas fixtures, wiring, bells, annunciators; speaking tubes, mantels, wardrobes, tile work, plumbing, bath room fixtures and interior work. The stable will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be two stories high and measure 40 feet square. The latest improved stable fixtures will be introduced. Noted previously. The same architects have prepared plans, on which bids are now being taken, for a chapel and three-story parochial house for St. Mark's Episcopal Church, to be erected at No. 1831 Bainbridge street.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

S. Gouley will build an additional wing to St. Joseph's Hospital, at Seventeenth street and Girard avenue. It is to be four stories high, 16 x 27 feet, and will cost $5000.

Messrs. Rush J. Whitesides & Sons, Twenty-third and Wallace streets, have been awarded the contract for a brewery which is to be erected on Wallace street above Twenty-third street by the owner, Mr. Phillip Klein, of this city. This brewery will be built of brick with a composition roof. It will be three stories high and measure 16 x 60 feet.

C. B. Prettyman will at once put up two dwellings at the northwest corner of Broad and Catharine streets. They are to be three stories high, 19 x 30 feet, and will cost $30,000. Mr. Prettyman will also build a handsome four-story office building adjoining on Broad street. It is to be four stories high, 40.6 x 120 feet, with a front of stone and brick, and will cost $50,000.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JUNE 23, 1897.

The Governor has signed the act placing work and material connected with gas fixtures under the Mechanics' Lien Law.

Interest and Expenses Eat ng Out the Vitals of the Bourse.

To give an idea of where the money went to make up the disbursements as per the treasurer's report of the Philadelphia Bourse during 1896, which amounted to the enormous sum of $339,886.71, reference should be made to the interest account, amounting to $64,609.71, or $5,384.14 for each calendar month of the year.

By dividing the last amount by 26, the number of working days in the month, it will be seen that the interest-bearing obligations of this "monument to the commercial glory of our city" cost just $207.08 for each working day of ten hours, or $20.70 for each working hour, or 84 cents per minute.

Every business man understands that an incubus of this magnitude, working without a single minute of rest, will sap the vitals of any business, great or small; and this is but one of the many influences that has driven the stock down from $50 to $4.50 per share, the learned editor of the Philadelphia Grocer to the contrary notwithstanding.

It is an invitation to the sheriff of the county to prepare for a stroke of business which will surely come at an early day unless the stockholders will consent to the surrender of a further large amount of cash to postpone the catastrophe.

The treasurer's report also informs us that the operating expenses and supplies for the Bourse last year cost the munificent sum of $138,965.15; and this sum has nothing to do with the interest account. We venture the statement that this is several times greater than the cost of maintaining the Drexel Building, the Girard Trust Building or any large building in the city.

The cost then, of maintaining the Bourse is $11,572.09 for each calendar month, $45.09 for each working day of ten hours, $44.50 for each working hour, or 74 cents per minute, independent of the interest account of 84 cents per minute.

Pay day, like death and taxes, which constantly stare humanity in the face, must come even to the consummate juggler of finances, and we are baffled in our best efforts to think out a method through which the Bourse's mountain of debt may be liquidated without an assessment upon the long-suffering stockholders, and we use the term advisedly, for we have been told of an instance of a gentleman in this city who holds 175 shares of the stock, which cost him $40 per share, and which was purchased for an investment, and which represents his all.

The deductions are that the finances of the concern have been in the wrong hands from the beginning, and the mind or minds that dominated the selection of the site, as well as the utopian scheme of erecting such a structure with a capital entirely inadequate, as well as the entire abandonment of the public-spirited purposes for which it was subscribed, had better seek the aid of level and energetic business minds, or retire from the management altogether.

The business ability of any man, however transcendent, amounts to very little indeed if his hours of earnest devotion are limited, through other pressing engagements, to two or three per day. What the Bourse now needs most is the services of a brainy, earnest worker who will call to his support fifty or more of our practical, loyal, unselfish business men, who will announce that the Bourse has come to stay, and that every promise shall be faithfully kept.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Engineer Twining, Ninth and Dauphin streets, will be in the market for a 200 horsepower engine that is to be erected in the power house on Beach street for the Union Traction Company.

Contractor George A. Bilyeu is going to make interior and exterior alterations to the Century Wheelmen's Club house on Wissahickon creek and Spruce mill, in the Twenty-second ward.

Mr. J. T. Jackson, of the firm of J. T. Jackson & Co., real estate brokers, has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Title, Insurance and Trust Company, of this city.

Contractor Thomas H. Marshall has started to build a one-story granite front building, 75 x 170 feet, for the Philadelphia Savings Fund at Nos. 706, 708 and 710 Walnut street. The work will cost $50,000. Furness, Evans & Co., architects, made the plans, which were fully noted in these columns previously.

Fire destroyed the hay storehouse, stables and damaged quite a number of private dwellings at Moyamensing avenue, Tasker and Fernon streets on the 18th instant. The first two structures belonged to Penrose McClain & Company, and the latter to private parties. Rebuilding and repairs are to be started at once in each case.

Messrs. Isaac Walker & Son, Heed Building, have been awarded the contract for the erection of a power-house at Meadville, Pa., for the Meadville Electric Company. This power-house will be built of brick, iron and steel, with stone trimmings. The cost of this power-house, including engines, boilers, electrical work, switch-boards, dynamos, motors, piping, etc., will amount to about $50,000.

Owners and Builders Whelan Bros. are going to put up a two-story brick and brownstone front store and dwelling, 16 x 48 feet, at the northeast corner of Warnock and McKean streets, and two two-story brick dwellings, with fronts of the same material, each 16 x 48 feet, on the north side of McKean street, east of Warnock.

Mr. Harry Saunders, 230 North Twenty-second street, will erect ten houses at Sixty-third and Hamilton street. These houses will be built of brick, with stone trimmings. They will be two stories high. They will have frontages measuring 16 feet and depths of about 50 feet. All the latest improvements and modern conveniences will be introduced.

Jas. Mann & Co., Thirtieth and Locust streets, have been awarded contract for all the masonry, brick and cut stone work on the new residence and stable for Mr. William Wood, to be erected at Wayne. Also stone work on Episcopal Church at Lower Merion, Pa., and new stone front on dwelling for Mr. Edward H. Cloud, at Twenty-third and Spruce streets.

Plans have been submitted to the Bureau of Building inspection for the erection of a two-story brick and terra cotta front church and parish-home, 48 feet 9 inches x 115 feet, for St. Mary's Church, which is to be built at No. 1851 Bainbridge street. The structure will be built by Contractors Arthur Williams' Sons, and will cost $18,000. Architects Hazlehurst & Huckel made the plans.

A large number of building operations are in course of erection or to be started at once, among which may be noted as follows: John Gallagher will start an operation comprising 88 two-story brick dwellings. Forty will be erected on Clarion street, south of Porter, and forty-four on Hicks and Mole streets, south of Porter. John C. Brooks is preparing for the erection of 16 three-story dwellings, each 18 x 50 feet, at Forty-fifth street and Osage avenue. Mitchell & Co. have had plans made for 15 two-story dwellings, to be erected at Fourth street and Snyder avenue, and Harry Weekey has completed arrangements for the construction of 12 two-story houses on High street, west of Morton, Germantown. J. Franklin Moss took out a permit yesterday to erect nine dwellings on the south side of Sargent street, west of Thirty-third. They are to be two stories high and chiefly of light and red brick. All modern conveniences will be introduced.

Two of the largest piers on the Delaware river front will soon be constructed by the Reading Railway, which has just completed the plans for them, and is now receiving bids on one of them. This is pier No. 8, South Wharves, used by the company's Atlantic City branch, which is to be widened to 100 feet and extended to the Port Wardens' new line, making it without doubt the finest and most commodious pier on the river front. To this end the bids invited call for the extension of the present pier 208 feet, at a width of 63 feet, and from the end of that extension 207 feet additional to the new Port Wardens' line, at the full width of 100 feet. The invitation for bids also calls for the building of a temporary ferry rack on the north side of the new pier. Upon the completion of the extension it is the intention of the Reading Company to construct two new ferry slips immediately south of the city's present Chestnut street pier. When these shall be completed, the present ferry will be removed and the extension of pier 8 to the full width completed. The Reading Company has also, just completed plans for the extension at pier No. 25, North Wharves, at the foot of Noble street. This will be extended 273 feet, at a width of 100 feet, giving it an entire length of 505 feet. The pier will be covered throughout its entire length.

The Philadelphia Country Club's present house at Bala is to undergo extensive alterations and improvements in the near future, and, if the plans of the Club's Building Committee are carried into effect, another structure is to be erected by its side. So much was decided at a meeting of the committee. The new house is intended chiefly to meet the wants of the golf-playing members of the club. It will be three stories in height, will be fitted with 300 lockers, baths, etc., and will contain also a bowling alley and a shuffleboard. The top floor will be utilized for servants' quarters, thus solving a problem which has long vexed the management of the club, namely, the providing of proper accommodations for this purpose. Including the alterations to the present house, it is probable that something like $15,000 will be expended for the contemplated improvements, and it is believed that the greater part of this can be raised by private subscription. The Building Committee consists of Messrs. Alfred C. Harrison, Leland Harrison, Edward H. McCullough, G. Heide Norris, James Hay, and Louis A. Biddle, the latter being now in Europe. The meeting was, also, attended by Colonel E. de V. Morrell, the President of the Club, and by Walter Cope, the architect, who made a preliminary survey of available sites for the new house. The club's membership is growing so rapidly that larger quarters are a necessity.

Washington, D. C.

The proposed magnificent memorial bridge between Washington and the National Cemetery at Arlington is now legally authorized, and Congress and the President have ordered the necessary surveys. The structure, which will be a memorial of the war, will be one of the finest of its kind, and a substantial proof of the restoration of good will among the people.—It has been announced that an American Roman Catholic College for the higher education of women will be established by the Sisters of Notre Dame near the Catholic University of America. The new institution will be known under the title of Trinity College, and will occupy a site on property recently bought by Mrs. William Ray, of Georgetown. This tract comprises about fifteen acres north of the grounds of the University and adjoining the Soldiers' Home. Plans are in course of preparation for the initial buildings for which ground will be broken the present season. This structure will accommodate about one hundred boarders. The material will be cream colored enameled brick, handsome interior finish and all modern improvements. The collegiate building will be of similar material, and will harmonize in architectural style with the University buildings. It is the intention of the sisters to erect also a large convent, which will be used as a summer home by the Sisters of Notre Dame. Mother Julia, the superior general of the American branch of the order, is in Washington in the interest of the college, which has the approval of Cardinal Gibbons.—It is reported that A. E. Randle, president of the Capitol Railway Company, has made arrangements for the issuing of bonds to the amount of $300,000, the money to be used in making extensive improvements on the road running from Congress Heights to Washington, and also to extend the line to the full limits allowed by the charter. The extensions will include Shepherds, opposite Alexandria, Va., and a branch line from Overbrook Inn to Anacostia. This will open up a desirable building section, and it is said a real estate firm is already negotiating for a large piece of land between Anacostia and Twining City, to be cut up into building sites and improved.—It has been suggested that a suburban home for the President be erected within the limits of Rock Creek Park, and also that ground be set apart in the same park on which to erect State buildings for the use of the respective States.—The Citizens' Committee, of one hundred members, having in charge the matter of raising money for the proposed new building for the Y. M. C. A., had a meeting at the Ebbitt House last week, at which the subject was discussed, and Charles E. Foster was selected as chairman, S. W. Woodward, vice-president, and Charles F. Nesbit, secretary. The cost of the proposed structure is estimated at $125,000, not including the lot, which is worth an equal amount. Plans for such a building have been decided on. These call for the halls of History and Philosophy, to be near each other facing on Nebraska avenue and in the rear of other buildings placed in two quadrangles forming the letter L. Kaufman.—Property on the Southeast corner of Eighteenth and "Q" streets, owned by Architect T. F. Schneider, has been leased to the Chinese Embassy for a term of years and will be enlarged by the addition of fifteen rooms. Mr. Schneider will also furnish the entire residence. Mr. Schneider is also preparing the plans for a large apartment house to be erected by Joseph Willard at the Northeast corner of New York avenue and Fourteenth street.—John E. Beall, who has in charge the property known as Somerset Heights, has arranged to make extensive improvements, including a fine driveway to parallel the electric road, the erection of a water tower on an elevated point to supply artesian water to the whole tract, and an artificial lake. Three Queen Anne dwellings will be erected in a short time, to contain all modern conveniences, and a sewerage system will be provided.—Jules Germüller has made plans for two dwellings to be erected on Illinois avenue, Brightwood Park.—F. V. Coville will erect a dwelling to cost $60,000 on California avenue, Washington Heights. F. H. Knight is the contractor.

It is probable that the island will be enlarged by filling in three acres, at a cost of about $30,000, and a deep channel dredged at a cost of $80,000. The new fireproof buildings will cost about $350,000, and it is likely Congress will appropriate that amount, to be repaid from the Immigrant Fund.—The Charities Commission have selected a site for the proposed New Harlem Hospital on the east side of Lenox avenue. The lot is 200 x 400 feet. The Legislature has authorized an outlay of $300,000 for the buildings.—The new Medical College for Bellevue Hospital will cost about $100,000. The structure will be five stories high, of brick, handsome interior finish, and equipped with the best and most modern surgical and medical appliances. The site will be at Second avenue and Twenty-sixth street.—Architects within the limit of Greater New York have been invited by the Board of Trustees to prepare plans for a new library building to be erected on the site of the old reservoir, Fifth and Sixth avenues, and Fortieth to Forty-second streets. The estimated cost of the building is $2,000,000. The plans will be judged by Professor Ware, of Columbia College; Bernard R. Green, who has charge of the construction of the Congressional Library, and Dr. J. S. Billings. These plans will be received by George L. Rivers, 32 Nassau Street, until July 15th.—The Twenty-third Street Baptist congregation will erect a new church from plans prepared by Lamb & Rich, Syndicate Building. It will be of press brick and terra cotta, stone trimmings, handsome stained glass windows, steam heat, electric lights, church furniture. The pastor is Rev. Dr. Boardman B. Bosworth, 1327 Madison avenue. The estimated cost is $100,000. Dr. J. A. Bennett, 4 Irving place, is chairman of the Building Committee.—Helen M. Gould, Irvington, N. Y., will erect a handsome dwelling at Loring place, corner of Oxford place, N. Y. City, to cost $30,000. The plans have been prepared by Henry R. Marshall.

Architect Notes.

Architect George Natress, 480 Walnut street, has prepared plans for two houses that are to be erected at Thirty-ninth and Locust streets, on which Given & Longaker, contractors, are taking estimates.

Bailey & Truscott, architects, 423 Chestnut street, have made plans for extension of the plant of Wm. J. Cooper, on Kaighns avenue, Camden, N. J. The structure will be three stories, brick, and fitted with freight lift and other appliances, etc.

Architects Hale & Ballinger, 1200 Chestnut street, have awarded the contract for an alteration to a factory to Contractor Ruff, 619 Cherry street, for the Lehigh Manufacturing Company, Fourth street and Lehigh avenue. Details given previously.

Bids are being made on the work of alteration and addition to the Inquirer Office Building, 1109 Market street, for Mr. James Elverson. The plans have been made by Architect Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, and were previously noted in full in these columns. Estimates are to be in by June 30th.

Architect Albert W. Dilks, 1001 Chestnut street, having completed plans for alteration and addition to 8416 Baring street, for the estate of Robert Steen, has awarded the contract for the work to C. F. Sharp, contractor, who has started work. The above will be general, and includes all modern comforts and conveniences.

Architects Hale & Ballinger, southwest corner Twelfth and Chestnut streets, have made plans for placing two stories on the structure of Partridge & Richardson, 17, 19, 21 North Eighth street. Also general interior alterations, which will be done at once. Estimates are being taken on the work in architects' office.

Joseph W. Anshutz, architect to the Board of Education, 708 Filbert street, has been directed to place for estimate the second time the plans and specifications for the new school-house to be erected at Knox and Seymour streets. The drawings have been fully noted in a previous issue of this journal, and it is likely they will be given out during the current week to contractors.

Architects Stearns & Castor, Bourse Building, have awarded the contract for repairs to a church recently destroyed by fire and an addition to same to Thomas Rush, of Frankford, Philadelphia. The repairs include lumber and carpenter work, slate roofing, plastering, painting, etc. The addition will be built of frame, one-story high, and when finished it will measure 25 x 40 feet.

Architect F. P. Lonsdale, Fourth and Walnut streets, has awarded the contract for a residence that is to be built at Port Washington, Pa., for Mr. Frank Heller, of that place, to Contractor Daniel Sperry, of Port Washington. This residence will be built of stone and frame, with a shingle roof. It will measure 30 x 40 feet, and will be three stories high; also bath-room fixtures, etc. Mention made previously.

Architect Heacock, of Wynocte, Pa., is preparing plans and specifications for a colonial residence that is to be built at Wynocte, Pa. It will be built of stone and frame, with a shingle roof. When completed will be two and a half stories high. All the latest improvements and conveniences will be introduced. Details will be noted later. The projected cost of this residence will not exceed $6000. The owner's name is withheld for the present.

Preparations are now being made by the owners and tenants of the building at the northeast corner of Tenth and Chestnut streets for the work of alteration and addition of two stories, which we noted in our last issue. The plans are by Architects Kennedy & Hayes, 421 Chestnut street, who will supervise the entire work. This also includes the adjoining building on the east. Both fronts will recede three feet to comply with ordinances of City Councils.

Architect G. W. Cook, of Lansdowne, Pa., has finished plans and specifications for a warehouse that is to be built at Twenty-third and Race streets for the Pennsylvania Safe Deposit Company, 113 South Third street. This warehouse will be built on the latest principles of slow-burning construction. It will be constructed of brick and iron, seven stories high, with a basement and slate roof. It will measure 45 feet on the front and have a depth of about 75 feet. Estimates are now being taken. Previously noted in these columns in full.

Architect Samuel Milligan, 520 Walnut street, has completed all plans for a new church building of "The Holy Spirit," at the southeast corner of Snyder avenue and Eleventh street. The building will be of brick and stone, with arched doorways and windows. These are to be of fancy moulded bricks, with a fine tower at one corner of structure, slate roof, steam heat, tile work, fine hardware, plain and stained glass, considerable iron work, tin and galvanized work. The interior will have an organ loft and all modern comforts and conveniences, etc. Estimates are now being made on work in offices of W. B. Dougherty and other contractors.

The following Board of Experts will decide the competition for the plans to be used in erecting the new Capitol Building, at Harrisburg, Pa.: Mr. John M. Carrere, of New York, the nominee of the six especially invited architects, and Mr. Walter Cook, of New York, the nominee of Mr. Carrere and of Professor Warren P. Laird, the adviser of the commissioners. At a meeting of the commissioners, held June 15th, a request was proposed, with favorable recommendation from the adviser, asking for a reduction in the number of drawings required by the programme. After due consideration it was decided that the change suggested should not be made, the programme to stand as originally issued.

Architect's W. C. Jr., and T. B. Pritchett, 424 Walnut street, have completed plans for alteration to dwelling 129 South Thirteenth street, for Dr. Francis V. Greene. These consist of brick work, cement work, roofing, sheet metal and iron work. All modern conveniences will be introduced. Estimates are now being made on the job in office of W. R. Dougherty, 1674 Sansom street, and other general contractors.

Architect and Builder John W. DeLong, 1930 Arch street, has finished plans and is taking sub-bids on an operation of about fifty houses that are to be built at Thirty-third and Green streets, for Messrs. Vickery, Falkenstein & Co., of this city. This operation will contain some two-story and some three-story houses. They will be built of brick, and when finished will measure 16 by 60 feet. The following items will be introduced: Hot air heating, electrical work, tile work, gas fixtures, speaking tubes, mantels, plumbing, bath-room fixtures and interior work.

Architects Stark & Hill, of Trenton, N. J., have finished plans, and estimates are being taken on a church that is to be built at Lawrenceville, N. J., for the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church congregation. This church will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be one story high, with a basement. When completed it will measure 56 feet square. The cost, including heating, lighting, plumbing, ventilating, etc., will not exceed $5000. Same architects are making plans for a chapel building that is to be built at Trent N. J., for the Florence Mission, of that place. It will be built of brick, two stories high, with a tin roof. When completed it will measure about 40 x 65 feet. Too early for details. The cost will not exceed $500.

Architect Frank R. Watson, 1303 Chestnut street, has awarded George Stewart, 330 Diamond street, the contract for the erection and completion of a residence that is to be built on Leiper street, Frankford, for Mrs. Samuel Evans, of Frankford, Philadelphia. This residence will be built of stone, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. It will have a frontage measuring 50 feet and a depth of 75 feet. All the latest improvements and conveniences, including steam heating, electrical work, including combination gas fixtures, wiring, bells, annunciators, speaking tubes, tile and mosaic work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, plumbing, bathroom fixtures, interior decorating, etc., will be introduced. Mention was made when estimates were made.

"A word to the wise is sufficient,"
Is a maxim we've frequently heard;
And now what we want is a maxim
To tell us just what is that word.

It enjoins all dutiful fathers,

Builder A. Panarello is ready to begin work on the erection of six two-story buff brick front dwellings, each 16 x 49 feet, on the east side of Sixty-seventh street, south of Woodland avenue.

Vickers, Falkenstein & Co., 1320 Arch street, having sold every house of the Wayne operation, are about closing negotiations for a plot of ground at Thirty-third and Spring Garden streets, on which they will erect forty-nine modern dwellings.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railway yesterday awarded the contract for the partial extension of its pier, No. 8, south wharves, and the construction of a ferry rack to Armstrong & Printzenhoff, of this city. This firm was the lowest of six bidders. The work will be commenced within ten days, and according to the contract must be completed by December 6.

Messrs. N. & G. Taylor Company, of this city, agents for the Pancoast Ventilator Company, Bourse Building, have just closed a contract for a large ten-foot ventilator to go to Staten Island. It will be nearly twenty feet in diameter, and will weigh 2000 pounds. This is only one of a number of large sales reported by the company, and is certainly an evidence of merit.

Messrs. McIlvain & Nieman, 209 South Sixth street, this city, will erect about a dozen houses at Cynwyd, Pa. These houses will be built of stone and brick, with shingle roofs. They will be three stories high, with basements. All the latest modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced. The cost of these houses, including all sub-contracts, will not exceed $6000 each. Private plans are now being prepared.

Mr. C. H. Prettyman, Betz Building, is letting separate contracts on a pair of houses that are to be built in the vicinity of Broad and Catharine streets. These houses will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings. They will measure 20 by 60 feet. When finished, they will be three stories high, with basements. Everything will be let in a separate contract. Private plans. The cost of this pair of houses will not exceed $25,000.

Contractors J. E. & A. L. Pennock have commenced work on extensive alterations at the Girard Life Insurance, Annuity and Trust Company, at the northeast corner of Broad and Chestnut streets. The Broad street entrance to the building is to be taken out and a window put in its stead. The office partitions, desks, etc., are to be rearranged. The work, it is estimated, will cause an outlay of $15,000. Same contractors are going to strip the present front of the dwelling No. 1421 North Broad street, the residence of Henry G. Freeman, and face it on the first floor with Indiana limestone, and the second and third floors to be of Pompeian brick.

A trip on the Delaware and Schuylkill Rivers was made during the last week by Councils' Committee on Commerce and Navigation, for the purpose of ascertaining what had been done, and what is still necessary to be done, to improve the channels of those streams. The committee used the police tug Stokley, and in addition to the Councilmen, Major Raymond, United States Engineer in charge of the harbor improvements; E. S. Cramp, representatives of the Maritime and Commercial Exchanges, and of the several steamship companies doing business at this port, were aboard the tug. A report will be made to Councils in September, and recommendations made for work to be done.

Through Pennsylvania.

When any of the following are not post office towns they will be so designated.

—At Erie, Erie county, the mayor has signed an ordinance providing for the construction of a conduit for the low tension wires on State street.

—At Tarentum, Allegheny county, it is reported that improvements will be made including the paving of 13.0 square yards at Prospect Cemetery with brick.

—At Emsworth, Allegheny county, the Clifton Presbyterian congregation will erect a church during the present season. It will be of frame, and will cost about $3000.

—At Elizabeth, Allegheny county, an election will be held on July 30 to decide the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $20,000, the money to be used for street improvements.

—At West Newtown, Westmoreland county, Congressman Edward E. Robbins is preparing a bill asking for an appropriation of $8,000,000 for the improvement of the Youghiogheny river from McKeesport to West Newtown.

—At Belle Vernon, Fayette county, a company, to be known as the East Side Electric Light Company of Belle Vernon, has been incorporated. The incorporators are James M.

Schoonmaker, George B. Motheral, of Pittsburgh, and others.

—At Whitemarsh, Montgomery county, the court has granted a charter for St. Paul's Reformed Church. The trustees of the organization are: Dr. M. Newberry, A. H. Carn, George W. Shriver, F. A. Stout, Charles H. Kohn, and William Arbuckle.

—At Bethlehem, Northampton county, at a recent special election it was decided to spend $75,000 for the purpose of macadamizing seven-and-one-half miles of road. H. G. Groman is city clerk, and R. E. Newmeyer, civil engineer, prepared the plans for the work and will have charge.

—At Easton, Northampton county, a charter has been granted to the Easton, Palmer and Bethlehem Street Railway Company to construct and operate a road by electricity. W. B. Ferguson, Boston, Mass., is president, and Charles E. Barnes, Plymouth, Mass., is the treasurer.

—At Overbrook, Montgomery county, Wendell & Smith, the managers of Overbrook Farms, have sold a lot on Sherwood avenue, 55 x 150 feet, to Leon S. Dexter, of the Elliott-Fisher Company, Ltd., of Philadelphia. Mr. Dexter has made arrangements with Wendell & Smith for the erection of a handsome dwelling on the site, to cost about $11,000. Work will begin at once so as to have the structure ready to occupy by September.

—At Norristown, Montgomery county, the court has appointed a jury to view a site for a new bridge on Airy street, over Sawmill Run. The construction of this bridge is one of the improvements for which the loan of $200,000 is desired. The other improvements include an electric light plant, sewers, street paving, etc. The jurors are Frank M. Hobson, Thomas F. B. Wunder and John F. Bowker. The court has appointed David Springer, Edwin K. Schultz and Allen T. Keely a jury to view a site for a bridge over Manatawney Creek, at Pottstown. The election to decide the question of borrowing $200,000 for public improvements will take place this week, and it is the general opinion that the question will be decided in the affirmative.

—At Reading, Berks county, a two-story brick stable will be erected by Mrs. Gulden. D. R. Shearer is the contractor.—William

The Sale of the Century

Times were very hard last Fall, just before the election of President McKinley. Manufacturers were glad to accept orders at cost rather than close down their mills.

Firm in the belief that the tide must soon turn, we ordered double quantities of piece goods from leading American mills at lowest prices ever quoted on American wools.

IN THIS, WE WERE ALONE

We are, therefore, enabled to inaugurate the GREATEST CLOTHING SALE of the CENTURY, which couples Worthiest Garments with the Saving of Cloth Weavers' and Clothing Dealers' Profits. Pray you, recall our 28 years of business truth-telling and truth-acting—and so, come, see and judge.

...The Growth of this Great Store...

from its modest beginning to the present immense establishment, could only be accomplished through persistent and successful efforts to please all the people all the time. Notwithstanding our system of service has been steadily improved from the start, yet strenuous efforts are constantly being made to further better it, and by liberality of policy to even increase the success of our store in its mission of usefulness to the public. At the present time the store is filled to overflowing with the choicest and best fabrics and garments produced for summer wear, which we have gathered from the best centres of production in such quantities that prices to us were, perforce, the very lowest that could be made. We are, however, invariably fortunate in securing the very highest grades in stylish goods and garments at prices that permit their distribution at figures much under those generally prevailing. The Department of

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JULY 7, 1897.

The firm of Roydhouse, Arey & Co., who have offices in the Master Builders' Exchange in this city, have for years enjoyed an unenviable reputation in the construction of massive or heavy building work, and the partial list of buildings erected by this firm, noted upon the first page of the current issue of this journal, amply testify to this fact. In all great works of a construction character it is peculiarly essential that the proper exercise of good judgment in material, tensile strength, scientific and good workmanship be attained, and where these are visible the outcome is sure to be satisfactory. The class of work referred to as erected and in course of building is in itself a lasting monument of the genius and integrity of this firm as general contractors.

Architect Notes.

William R. Dougherty is taking bids on alterations and additions to the parochial residence of St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church, at Twenty-third and Berks streets. The plans were made by Architect Emile G. Perrot. He is also taking estimates for alterations to an office at No. 50 South Front street.

Architect E. F. Durang, Twelfth and Chestnut streets, is preparing revised plans for a stable and low-house that are to be built at Merion, Pa., for the Sisters of Mercy of that place. This building will be built of stone, one story high. It will measure about 25 x 160 feet. Revised estimates will be taken when these plans are completed.

Architects Collins & Autenreith, 410 Walnut street, have awarded the contract to George Sipps, 212 South Seventh street, for an alteration to a store building, located at Eighth and Market streets, for Lit Brothers. This alteration will include extensive interior alterations. When work is completed this building will be constructed of brick and iron, four stories high, with a basement. The cost of this alteration will not exceed $10,000.

TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE,

From January 1st to June 30th inclusive

Tables by Wards and Months for two and three-story dwellings, together with a record of the new buildings erected, and in course of erection, with the estimated cost, exclusive of the cost of the land.

TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE WITH THE MORTGAGE AND GROUND RENT INCUMBRANCE.

4192 New Buildings of all kinds, costing $14,708,643, an increase in the amount of the investment of $322,343, but a falling off in the number of new buildings of 476.

2948 Alterations and Additions for which permits were granted, costing $4,422,000, an increase in number over those of last year of 575 and an increase in expenditure of $862,500.

The opinion which many people entertain, that this country has suddenly and permanently drifted into European conditions, is the most absurd folly ever emanating from the brain of an American.

The idea of an American with the faculty of perception, stamping upon himself the brand of idleness simply because business, or speculation, or something else had gone severely against him, can only be accounted for as one of the many vagaries to which human nature is addicted. It is not in keeping with the constituent parts which, when welded together, produce, as a whole, the brightest, brainiest and most patient and steadfast people that ever graced the earth, excepting none.

The individual who is prepared to accept such a conclusion should migrate to the countries wherein energy and progress are weighed with wooden or hob-nailed shoes; where the sickle, in the hands of half-fed labor, dominates the harvest field; where meat is a Sunday luxury, and ignorance and superstition usurp the place of free thought, free speech and free schools.

There is something nauseating in the thought that it is possible for anyone to harbor such a sentiment in this country, for such people, however few or many, are incapable of recognizing the power of nature's forces or her prolific bounty, working out their country's destiny, constantly driving onward and upward, as a nation of free-born people, with more intelligence, education, thrift and energy to every acre of tillable land than any other people under the sun.

The knife of adversity has cut both deep and long. Business men have been ruined through no fault of their own, but so long as canorous apathy does not supplant their energy there is hope of recovery for even the worst of these, for the reason, pure and simple, that their country is still full of opportunities.

The advances already made toward prosperity are far from mythical, or, as R. G. Dunn & Co. put it, there is no step backward in business, although the season of mid-Summer quiet is near. Business men of the highest standing in all parts of the country, having gradually perceived that the tide has begun to rise, are regulating their plans for the future with a confidence quite unknown to them a short time ago. The main factor at this time is the steadily brightening prospect for crops, and it is now figured that in Winter wheat alone the Government's estimate will be beaten by at least 60,000,000 bushels.

A prominent gentleman, who is the president of a trust company of this city, very tersely compares the beginning of prosperity of a country to the motion of many great and small wheels intricately dependent one upon the other, but located at different distances from the motive power. With some the speed is comparatively great at the beginning, while with others it is hardly perceptible, but in a little while each neighboring wheel, big and little, feels the thrill of the great force that is moving all, and then all finally turn with equal speed and in perfect harmony. This is prosperity.

Manufacturers are getting busy, but are moving very carefully. Competition is close, owing to the activity in some lines and dullness in others, which engenders encroachment, and this in turn cuts prices, but all of this will stop as soon as natural conditions are reached, or as soon as all of the wheels turn briskly.

Higher rates for money will surely come next fall. Money is plenty enough at low rates of interest on collateral, but commercial money is not plenty, except for those who are able to reach it. Banks are discounting freely enough where balances and responsibility justify it.

Considerable is being done in a large way in iron and steel. There is considerable increase in the demand for textile goods, both cotton and woolen. Mortgages remain a favorite investment, and large loans on gilt-edged properties can be had at low rates. Private parties are heavy buyers of mortgages which are guaranteed by trust companies. Trust companies are not making advances on operations unless they are first-class in every respect.

Of course, real estate is many removes from the power house of prosperity, and is, therefore, about the last to feel its influence.

Real estate holdings do not represent the increment of labor, whether the laborer be a hewer of wood or the master mind controlling large business enterprises.

It is the hard pressed business man who is forced to sell during business adversity, but it is a long time before such a man again turns his attention to investments of this nature. When a high degree of prosperity strikes our merchants and manufacturers there will be no dearth of buyers at good prices.

There is plenty of property changing hands, but investors are looking for bargains in most cases, with a view to the profit to be made.

There is no pessimistic feeling in banking circles. Our financiers understand better than others the far-reaching influences of business and financial earthquakes, and that the foundations of some of the best business structures have been terribly shaken. The late-leaved skipper of an ocean liner moves with great care even after he has escaped the treacherous iceberg.

The falling off in construction work this year represents in capacity building enough to comfortably house the inhabitants of a town with a population of 2500, and yet nearly the whole of this is due to our operative builders, as an analysis will show. Two-story dwellings this year are 730 short of the same months last year, and three-story are short 275. Here, then, is 457 of the shortage accounted for in these two classes of buildings. The investments for the first six months of last year in these buildings amounted to $11,699,850, while this year it amounts to $14,140,000. This is conclusive that our operative builders are not only a great factor in the city's growth, but also the representatives of a business interest trying enterprise, courage and ability to a high degree.

It is certainly incumbent upon our city authorities, executive as well as legislative, to foster and encourage in every possible building way the enterprise of all kinds. The operative builders have already added many millions of taxable real estate to the assessment roll, and this year it has now demonstrated more than ever, as the finances of both city and State are inadequate to meet requirements.

There are many empty houses, even more than at our last report, but new houses that have been erected for selling purposes should not be classed with regular rental.

It is difficult to make the layman understand that operative builders seldom erect dwellings to rent, as occupancy robs them of their investing freshness.

There is no inquiry for industrial sites; the smaller industries are not even the exception, as is usually the case. There is no doubt that the delay in passing the new tariff bill is largely responsible for the perfect apathy that exists as to new factory buildings. The country and its inhabitants are clogged with cheap foreign goods, enough, at least, to meet all requirements for a full year, hence the problem of employment of the new present industrial plants without aggravating difficulties by compounding production.

Shrinkage is apparent in some sections, and many shrewd investors are inclined to believe that it is general, but this sentiment is disputed by those who are equally capable, and who attribute whatever shrinkage there is to the willingness to concede to local influences and the financial necessities of owners.

It is not fair, the latter class maintain, to make such a sweeping assertion, when it is well known that buyers are limited in numbers and the sentiment of general shrinkage is forced or deduced from empty houses and business and a reduction in rentals. Of course, this sentiment goes a great way in regulating the prices of real estate which must be sold, but a better way to settle the question, they argue, is an effort to purchase desirable, well rented and well located properties from owners who are free from business pressure. It will be found that such own is value their real estate quite as much as heretofore, and are not willing to recognize any general shrinkage.

The fancy, high-priced business properties are not subject to criticism; these are worth all they will bring, and in some cases more.

Sheriff sales are increasing. 180 properties were offered yesterday, but who is there who can recall the heavy real estate business of the sheriff's office under Sheriff Wright—from 1878 to '81—when his advertisements of property to be sold covered pages of the Philadelphia Record? Who can see now being done in Sheriff Crow? It is certain that there are not now as many cases of defaulted interest as at that time, and the amount of building in those years was extremely limited.

Let every man take home the question of the future of the country and decide it for himself on the cold basis of brains, energy and opportunity, and his conclusion becomes at once his personal decision as to the future of real estate.

There is not the least doubt that building has been overdone in some sections, and this may cause considerable distress to the unfortunate, but much help is looked for from improved business conditions during the next twelve months.

The smaller wheels will soon get moving, and these are the influences which will fill the houses.

Architects, in many cases, are fairly busy with heavy work, such as office buildings, a few factories, sites for new warehouses and a long time ago, and the better class of residences. There are many architects, however, who are doing little or nothing.

There is little or no improvement in rentals. Prices are about the same as during the winter months. The better class of dwellings in most sections are in poor demand. Summer death, as usual, affects these. There is considerable prospect for a better demand for them next fall.

Business properties in good sections are in demand, but east side business properties about Third and Walnut streets are not wanted by either buyers or renters.

West Philadelphia dwellings have been in good demand up to the present time, and it is said that these desirable homes with their gas ranges, water filters, permanent refrigerators and other modern auxiliaries are responsible for the serious losses the Fifteenth ward has incurred through the removal of wealthy residents, but it is a feeling that the heading sub-way will help real estate in that section, but how is not explained.

There are three more four-story dwellings this year than last, but the investment is $60,000 greater.

Seven office buildings over two-stories this year against eleven last year, but the investment represented by the seven is $77,500 greater. This, of course will materially add to the industries, which, unfortunately, need more boosting than we can give them, for in no instance have they equaled the numbers respectively erected last year, except in stores, not stores and dwellings. The industries are as follows: Warehouses, 5; dye and dry cleaning factories, 15; engine and boiler houses, 6; breweries and bottling houses, 1; foundries and shops, 3, while there are 16 more store buildings than last year.

The loss in the investment in industrial buildings this year is enormous. Warehouses lose $263,000, dye and dry cleaning factories lose $100,000, these to report this year. The loss in factories is even greater than that in warehouses, the amount being $262,700. There is a gain of $27,100 in the investment in engine and boiler houses, while breweries and bottling houses are short $31,000, besides being 10 greater than last year, show the handsome increase in investment of $230,300. Net losses in the industrial is $381,100, the gross loss being $508,000. The loss in stores and engine and boiler-houses represent the industrial, a loss, but not in the same sense as factories and foundries and shops.

Five schoolhouses this year, and none last year, make a gain of $275,748 in the investment.

Stables show a gain this year of five, and a gain in the investment of $5500.

Churches are four in number this year against three last year, but the increase is only $6000.

Miscellaneous buildings, while a strong factor in this year's reports, do not, as a rule, represent enough of a single kind to list in classification. They are, for convenience sake, treated separately. Last year there were 31 of these, and their cost was $701,200. This year there are 25, but their cost amounts to $1,453,000, the difference being $751,800.

The city's growth being mainly represented by two and three-story dwellings, our tables this year will excite more than usual interest; indeed, it is doubtful if the gains and losses by wards were ever more pronounced.

The gains in two-story dwellings are distributed as follows: First ward, 98; Twenty-second, 85; Twenty-third, 27; Twenty-seventh, 88; Twenty-eighth, 109; but this should be added to the results in the Thirty-eighth, which were 68 (Note that part of the Twenty-eighth ward no of Lehigh avenue was on November 13, 1896, by order of court, the Twenty-eighth ward was divided into the Twenty-ninth gained 107, Thirty-fourth, 130, and the Thirty-fifth, 9.

The losses are as follows: Seventeenth, 10; Eighteenth, 31; Twenty-first, 33; Twenty-fourth, 197; Twenty-fifth, 70; Twenty-sixth, 154; Thirtieth, 28; Thirty-first, 57; Thirty-third, 42; Thirty-sixth, 251; Thirty-seventh, 27.

There has been serious losses in three-story construction work in wards where it was little expected, while there has been a gain in a few wards. They are not heavy, except in a single instance. The gains are distributed as follows: Second ward, 18; Third, 15; Fourth, 2; Fifth, 4; Seventh, 2; Eighth, 3; Ninth, 10; Tenth, 3; Twenty-second, 17; Twenty-third, 3; Thirty-third, 3; Thirty-fourth, 55. The wards which show a loss are as follows: Ninth ward, 2; Seventeenth, 17; Eighteenth, 11; Nineteenth, 7; Twenty-first, 21; Twenty-second, 115; Twenty-third, 29; Twenty-fourth, 15; Twenty-fifth, 2; Twenty-sixth, 40; Twenty-eighth, 100; and if we add to the number accredited to the Twenty-eighth ward all that were built this year in the new Thirty-eighth ward, the total is only 129, or 88 short of last year; Twenty-second, 28; Thirty-fourth 28; Thirty-sixth, 28.

West Philadelphia shows a gain in two-story dwellings of 78. It will be seen that the Twenty-fourth lost 197, while the Twenty-seventh gained 88 in the Thirty-fourth. In three-story dwellings the Twenty-fourth lost 14 and the Thirty-fourth 28, while the Twenty-seventh gained 15.

There is a serious falling off in the number of transfers this year, the number being 76 less than last year. The value of the transfers is $267,551.23 less than those of last year. It is to be regretted that it is not possible to strike the average value of each property transferred yearly, from which conclusions might be safely drawn as to the value of property transferred. It is possible, as a dozen or even more separate pieces are often included in a single transfer.

We give a table of transfers for the first six months of each year since 1889:

Transfers.	Value.
1889-1890.....	$42,374,824 05
1890-1891.....	42,068,744 01
1891-1892.....	43,101,744 00

1898-1899.....	41,705,128 75
1897-1898.....	41,465,275 42

The mortgage incumbrance on no estates transferred this year amounts to $16,218,570.75, or 39 per cent. against 31.5 per cent. for 1896; 30 per cent. for 1897; 27.5 per cent. for 1894; 22 per cent. for 1893; 20 per cent. for 1892; 23 per cent. for 1891; 20 per cent. for 1890; 21.9 per cent. for 1889; 19.2 per cent. for 1888. This is an increase of over 100 per cent. in less than ten years for the first six months of each year, as above reported.

The ground rents amount to $394,907.34, which, on a six per cent basis, represents a further incumbrance of $916,022.33.

In conclusion, we agree with President McKinley that a patriot is better than a pessimist, and patriotism never had a better opportunity to express itself than now. The people in November last rendered a verdict in terms which left no room for doubt. That verdict under our form of government is irrevocable.

Theories now amount to nothing. The problems before the country are business and labor. The patriotic citizen wishes for prosperity above everything. Neither does he care how or by whom it is brought about.

The preponderance of sentiment is sanguine. Of course, there were many who felt assured that the results of election guaranteed a high degree of prosperity, commencing at the very hour of the inauguration, and these are now expressing their disappointment. It is difficult enough to argue with illogical people under the most favorable conditions, or, when a large share of their expectations have been realized, it is next to useless to make even an effort to do so while they are determined not to recognize tangible evidences of their error. The restoration of capital is a great step towards prosperity; without it capital is of little account. Capital will continue to push itself into the places where it is most needed. It will give additional zest to building and construction work, just as soon as conditions justify it. It is at the service of the whole country as soon as it can feel moderately safe.

It is not free for wild-cat speculation unless secured, and it never was, it never will be.

It is not a purchaser of questionable mortgages in any section, neither is it prepared to make loans for business purposes to those who have nothing to command them except uncontradicted talk. "The country is all right, and David Crockett would lead, if he were alive, 'pitch in and go ahead.'"

The new building law, which had been prepared by Chief Haddock, of the Bureau of Building Inspection, and which had passed the Senate and had twice passed the House, and was only awaiting final action in the lower body, failed to receive consideration, and the Legislature adjourned without taking any action upon it. This leaves the present laws in force with their inequalities for two years more. Chief Haddock regrets that the bill thus failed, as there is pressing need for a revision of the present laws.

W. C. Hoopes, of Atlantic City, N. J., has finished plans for a school building that is to be built at that place, at a cost of about $15,000. It will be built of brick, with stone trimmings and a slate roof. It will be stories high, with a basement. When finished, it will measure 70 x 90 feet. Steam heating, electrical work, plumbing, ventilating and interior work will be included in the general contract. The Smead-Whills system of heating and ventilating will be introduced. Address, 415 Locust street, Philadelphia.

General Contractor Charles Auchter, 1520 Bailey street, is erecting a residence in the vicinity of Twenty-eighth and Jefferson streets for Mr. Arthur Berger, of this city. This residence will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornice and a tin roof. This residence will have a frontage measuring 18 feet and a depth of about 50 feet. It will be three stories high, with a basement. The latest improvements will be introduced, and are included in this contract, comprising hot air heating, electrical work, speaking tubes, tile work, plumbing, etc. Cost about $6000. Private plans.

At Monongahela, Washington county, fire destroyed last week the distillery owned by Joseph Kammerer. The loss is about $8000.

At Mahanoy City, Schuylkill county, two blocks of houses in the business part of the town were destroyed by fire last week at a loss of $60.0.

At Collegeville, Montgomery county, a new schoolhouse will be erected. It will be of brick, fine interior finish and modern conveniences. The heating, lighting and ventilating will be of the best.

At Swarthmore, Delaware county, the Builders' Construction Company has made arrangements for the erection of two dwellings at Vassar and Howard avenues. They will be of stone and frame, and provided with all modern comforts and conveniences.

At Pittsburgh, Long & Carrell, Hamilton Building, have made plans for five brick dwellings, to be erected by J. J. McAllister, in the Thirty-first ward.—W. A. Thomas, Carnegie Building, has made plans for four colonial brick dwellings, to be erected in the East End, and for which W. H. Striving, 442 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, is receiving bids.

"Spell 'abandon,'" said the teacher, and when the leader of the class successfully wrestled with it, she thought to take a fall out of him by insisting upon a definition. The boy attempted and failed, and there was seeming great joy thereat, until the teacher, in duty bound, gave the dictionary meaning, saying it was to "forsake." "What is it now?" said the boy: "it looks as if the definition was as hard as the word."

It is a good thing Mr. Leach was not requested to define life insurance. For if "life is the assertive continuity of atomic contiguity," then insurance should be the establishment of equitable reciprocity among persistent contributors to a fund diminishing the injury inflicted by "the paramount subversion of molecular accord."

Dear me! Let it go at that, only it is a fair travesty upon the plans of some companies and the method of their presentation. Nothing is easier to understand than true life insurance.

DEFINITIONS.....

Life is the assertive continuity of atomic contiguity.

Health is exemplified perpetual motion in molecular changes in full accord.

Disease is the immaterial modification of our atomic integrity.

Death is the paramount subversion of molecular accord.

Respectfully submitted,

Yours very truly,

R. B. LEACH.

Architect Notes.

Architect Addison Hutton, 400 Walnut street, is making plans for a pathological laboratory to be erected for the Pennsylvania Hospital upon a site yet to be selected. The general details of the structure have not been definitely settled upon as yet. It is also proposed to make some other additions to the kitchens and nurses' house as well.

William Copeland Furber, engineer and architect, of this city, has completed plans for a large storage battery building for the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company, of San Francisco, Cal. The building is to be of brick with a slate roof and specially arranged for a large installation of "chloride accumulators" of the Electric Storage Battery Company of Philadelphia.

Architect Charles Douglas, 1313 South Nineteenth street, is taking bids on a store building that is to be built at Fourth and South streets for Messrs. Krugel & Green, of this city. The building will be built of brick and stone. It will be four stories high with a basement. When finished it will measure 25 x 60 feet. Steam heating, electric lighting, plumbing and interior work will be included in the general contract.

Architect P. P. Elkinton, 211 South Sixth street, has finished plans and specifications for a $25,000 church that was to have been built in West Philadelphia for the Third Christian Church congregation, but the same has been temporarily abandoned. This church was to have been built of stone and brick, two stories high, with a slate roof. Details were formerly given. Mention will be made should this project materialize.

Contractors William Steele & Son, 506 Walnut street, have plans in their office for a factory building that is to be built at the corner of Tulip and Palmer streets, Philadelphia, for Messrs. A. J. Reach & Company, of this city. This factory building will be built of brick, with a slag roof. It will be four stories high, with a basement. When finished it will measure 40 x 60 feet. Estimates are being taken by the owners. Private plans.

The State Penitentiary is to have a new granite front of ornamental design in rock face ashlar and set stone Doric columns and cornices. The plans have been prepared by Architect Henry D. Dagit, who is now receiving estimates on the work from a number of bidders. The alterations when completed will be an improvement to Broad street and will be finished by September 15th. The work will be commenced immediately after the battalion returns from camp.

Architect Thomas Stephens, Masonic Temple Building, Camden, N. J., has finished plans for a hall and store building that was to have been built at Lindeward, N. J., but which has been temporarily abandoned. It was to have had an ornamented brick front, with brick and frame rear buildings. It was to be three stories high, with a basement, and when finished was to measure 40 x 60 feet. All the latest improvements were to be introduced. Mention will be made when this project is taken up again.

Secretary Gage has decided to enforce the Tenancy law in relation to drawings for public buildings. The law provides that when a new building is authorized the Secretary of the Treasury shall invite architectural plans from five architects of his own selection. From these a commission is to select one. Secretary Carlisle refused to enforce the law, declaring that it was impracticable; but Secretary Gage thinks it can be carried out, and is now preparing rules and regulations for its enforcement.

Architect J. D. Allen, 1017 Chestnut street, has finished plans, and bids are now being taken on a casino building that is to be built at Pittsburgh, Pa., for the Pittsburgh Casino Company. This casino will be built of stone, brick, iron, steel and frame. It will have two wings, which will measure 135 x 40 feet, and 40 x 200 feet each. This building will be built of fireproof material, and when completed it will be thoroughly protected from fire. Every modern improvement and convenience will be introduced.

Architect H. D. Dagit, 435 Chestnut street, has awarded the contract for an alteration to a bakery situated at 724-26 South Eleventh street, for Mr. Joseph R. Hutchinson, of this city, to Contractor George Dietrich, 939 North Seventh street. This alteration will include brick and iron work and a general remodeling of the interior. The following items are included in this contract: Excavations, masonry and brick work, cement work, plumbing, painting, glazing, etc. The cost of this alteration will not exceed $700. Mention was made when bids were taken.

Architects Schermerhorn & Rinehold, 430 Walnut street, have finished plans for four dwellings that are to be built at Narberth, Pa., for Clothier Bros., of Narberth, Pa. These houses will be built of brick and frame with slate roofs. They will be three stories high with basements. When completed they will measure 25 x 50 feet. All the modern conveniences will be introduced, including hot air heating, electric bells, wiring, mantels, wardrobes, tile work, plumbing, bath room fixtures and interior hard wood finish. The proposed cost of these houses will not exceed $18,000. The owners are letting separate contracts.

Architect A. H. Moses, 419 Walnut street, is preparing plans for a school building that will be built in Camden, N. J., for the Commissioners of Public Education of that place. This school will be built of brick, with stone and terra cotta trimmings. It will be two stories high, with a basement. When completed it will measure 40 x 100 feet. All the latest improvements in heating, plumbing, ventilating, lighting and interior work will be introduced. The cost of this school, including all sub-contracts, will not exceed $20,000. Mention will be made when plans are finished and when estimates are taken.

Architect Walter Smedley, 435 Chestnut street, has been taking bids on a residence that is to be built at Overbrook, Pa., for Mr. T. F. Reilly, of this city, and has awarded the general contract to Builder George Ash, 6 North Twentieth street. This residence will be built after the colonial style of architecture. It will be three stories high, with a basement. It will be built of local stone and brick, with a slate roof. The latest modern improvements and conveniences will be introduced. The following items are included in this contract: Steam heating, electrical work, plumbing, tile and mosaic work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work and interior decorating, etc. Same architect has taken bids, and awarded the general contract to J. Rogers, of Stanwick, N. J., for a Friends' meeting-house that will be erected at Moorestown, N. J., for the Friends' Society of that place. This building will be built of brick, with a slate roof. It will be one story high, with gallery and basement. When completed it will measure 60 by 75 feet. The following items will be included in this contract: Steam heating, gas fixtures, plumbing, tile work, toilet room fixtures and a system of ventilation. Mention was made when estimates were received.

Architect J. L. Johnson, Harrison Building, is preparing plans and specifications for a residence that is to be erected at Paoli, Pa. This residence will be built of stone and frame, with a shingle roof. It will be two and a half stories high, with a basement. When completed it will measure 30 x 45 feet. Heating, electrical work, plumbing, tile work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, hardware and interior work will be included in the general contract. The owner's name is withheld for the present. Same architect is also preparing plans for an addition to a hotel located at Atlantic City, N. J., for the Hotel Brighton, of that place. This addition will be built of brick and frame, three stories high. The following items will be introduced, and will be included in the general contract, such as steam heating, electrical work, including combination electric and gas fixtures, wiring, annunciators, speaking tubes, tile work, plumbing, bath and toilet room fixtures, etc. Mention will be made when plans are finished and when bids are taken. The same architect is preparing final drawings for a lavatory building that is to be built in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, for the Commissioners of Fairmount Park. This building will be built of brick, one and a half stories high, with a tile roof. Details later. Cost, about $3800. Mention will be made when bids are taken.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JULY 14, 1897.

$75.00 for a Columbia.

A prominent New York journal recently published an article upon the cut in the prices of high-grade bicycles. Referring to the great reduction of 25 per cent., it mentioned the fact that the action of the Pope Manufacturing Company, the manufacturer of the Columbia, which is conceded by wheelmen to lead all of the high-grade wheels, was awaited with considerable interest. It seems that the Pope Company, notwithstanding its prestige as the manufacturer of the best wheel in the world, met the cut in price, and met it bravely, for the Hart Cycle Company, 816 Arch street, this city, agents for the Pope Manufacturing Company, announce, in their advertisement in the present issue, that 1897 Columbias have been reduced to $75.00. The above acknowledgment of superiority in the news column of a New York journal is the highest compliment that could be paid the manufacturers, and it will certainly lead to greatly increased sales among those who value their personal safety more than they do the few extra dollars the present price the Columbia represents.

Removal of the Equitable Trust Co.

The Equitable Trust Company has vacated its offices, No. 624 Chestnut Street, and is now occupying its new offices in the Betz Building, Broad Street, above Chestnut. The offices on the north side of the main entrance to the Betz Building are at present partially occupied by another tenant whose lease will expire at a comparatively early date, after which The Equitable Trust Company will have sole and exclusive possession of the entire first floor of the building, thus giving the Company nearly double the working space which it had in the offices just vacated.

The Banking offices, on the south side of the main entrance, will be occupied by the Financial Department, under the direction of Frank J. Johann, Treasurer, and John V. Loughney, Assistant Treasurer, of the Company; while the offices on the north side will be used by the Title, Trust and Suretyship Departments, under the supervision of Title Officer John H. Connellan, Surety Officer Albert H. O'Brien and Trust Officer C. Percy Wilcox.

The offices of the Financial Department have been fitted and furnished by the Company in a manner to meet every requirement of the business of that department. Safe deposit boxes, with the latest and most improved devices for security and convenience, have been provided, and are to be rented at the rate of from $5.00 to $50.00 per annum. The work was done under the superintendence of Architects MacCollin and East. No alterations or improvements will be made in the offices on the north side until after the Company obtains entire possession of them, when they will be fitted up in harmony with those used by the Banking Department.

President William F. Harritt and those associated with him in the direction and management of the Company are strongly of the opinion that the interests of stockholders, depositors, etc., will be best subserved and promoted by removal of the offices of the Company to Broad above Chestnut, so as to be in close proximity to the various courts, court offices, county offices, city offices, etc., as well as to be in close touch with the various professional and business interests that have already removed, or contemplate removal, to that vicinity.

The semi-annual statement of the Company for the period ended June 30, 1897, is about to be issued. It will show the total deposits to that date amounted to $2,921,845.59, an increase of $507,298.31 during the past six months. The Board of Directors have set aside out of the undivided profits of the Company the sum of $250,000 as a surplus fund. The remaining undivided profits amounted on June 30, 1897, to $40,491.95, after deducting $15,000 to be paid out in dividends on August 1, 1897, the dividend being at the rate of six per cent. per annum. The last sale of the stock was on July 1, 1897, when it sold for $85 per share ($50.00 per share paid in).

Under the date of June 29, 1897, the Auditing Committee, consisting of Howard B. French, chairman, Arthur Hagen and S. Edwin Megargee, reported that they made a careful and exhaustive examination of the cash and securities held or owned by the Company and found them to be correct and to correspond with the books and published statements of the Company. The Auditing Committee closed its report as follows: "It is with pleasure that we note the very satisfactory condition of the Company's business, and commend the management for their careful conduct of the same."

This hotel was to be built of brick and frame, four stories high, with a basement. All the latest modern improvements and conveniences were to have been introduced. Mention will be noted when this project is taken up again.

Architect Wilson Eyre, Jr., 927 Chestnut street, has taken bids and awarded the contract to Horace Pherson, Drexel Building, for an alteration to a residence on Walnut street, above Sixteenth street, for the Acorn Club, of this city. The residence will be changed into a club-house at a cost of $20,000. A new brick and stone front is included in this contract. Changing interior partitions, stairways, etc., will be the extent of the interior work, together with the following items: Steam heating, electric lighting, plumbing, toilet and bath-room fixtures, tile and mosaic work, hard wood finish, hardware, painting, interior decorating, plastering, glazing, etc., are included in this contract.

The People's Wealth.

The following very interesting estimate of the people's wealth, and the way it is divided, is from the pen of a Mr. Shearman, a writer in the New York Forum. It will be seen that the total, independent of church property amounts to over sixty-two billions, which is divided among 13,002,090 families. By multiplying this amount by five, it proves that the total wealth of the country is divided among 65,010,450 persons. This will leave over five million persons without wealth, either personal or real.

Mr. Shearman now estimates that 100,000 people own one-half of the nation's wealth, and that four per cent. of the people possess seventy-five per cent. of the entire property of the country. In his estimate he places the number of millionaires at between 7,000 and 8,000, while he appraises the national wealth, on the bases of tax returns, at $65,000,000,000. The following table shows how Mr. Shearman disposes of the wealth of the country:

Families—	A. wealth	Total wealth
70	$37,500,000	$2,625,000,000
90	11,500,000	1,025,000,000
180	8,000,000	1,440,000,000
135	6,800,000	968,000,000
360	4,600,000	1,656,000,000
1,755	2,800,000	4,036,000,000
6,000	1,230,000	7,590,000,000
7,000	650,000	4,550,000,000
11,000	375,000	4,125,000,000
14,000	230,000	3,220,000,000
16,500	165,000	2,722,000,000
50,000	100,000	5,000,000,000
75,000	60,000	4,500,000,000
200,000	20,000	4,000,000,000
1,000,000	3,500	3,500,000,000
11,620,000		11,215,000,000

13,002,090 $62,082,000,000
Public and church property is omitted. Distributing the property among classes, Mr. Shearman estimates the rich, 132,000 families to have $43,367,000, or $238,135 per family; the middle class, 1,200,000 families to have $7,500,000, or $6250 per family, and the working class, 11,620,000 families, to have $11,215,000,000, $968 per family. This gives a total of 13,002,090 families, possessing wealth amounting to $62,082,000,000, or an average of $4775 to a family.

The evil that results from concentrated wealth consists in the use that is made of it rather than the fact of its possession. If it is hoarded and kept out of circulation it is depressing on the people. But if it is used in trade, commerce, or manufacturing it is an advantage to any people. The trouble is that men with large fortunes have not the impulse to go into industrial pursuits that actuate men of smaller means. They are satisfied to retire and take it easy, while persons with insufficient capital struggle along in business.

Architect Notes.

Architect J. E. Allison, of Pittsburg, Pa., is preparing plans for an $18,000 stone church that is to be built at Vandegrift, Pa., for the Methodist congregation of that place.

Architect E. G. Perot, Twelfth and Chestnut streets, has taken bids for an alteration to a residence on Twenty-third street, below Berks street, for St. Elizabeth's R. C. Church, of this city, and awarded contract to Thomas McCarty, 345 York avenue. This alteration will include brick work, tin roofing, gas piping and fitting, plastering, papering, painting, glazing, etc. Mention was made when bids were taken.

Architect J. H. Windrim, 1107 Walnut street, is preparing sketches for a memorial arch that is to be erected at the Diamond street entrance of Fairmount Park for the Fairmount Park Commissioners, City Hall, Philadelphia. The cost of this arch will not exceed $500,000. It will be erected in memoriam of the Smith estate of this city. Fully described in these columns previously.

Architect E. Aves, 211 South Sixth street, is preparing plans for an apartment house that is to be built in this city. This building will be built of brick, stone, terra cotta and iron. It will be five stories high, with a basement, and measure about 60 x 75 feet. The latest improvements in ventilating, plumbing, heating, lighting and interior work will be introduced. The proposed cost of this apartment house will amount to $30,000. Mention will be made when bids are taken. The exact location and owner's name are withheld for the present.

The plans for the new front to the armory of the State Penitentiary, Broad below Race street, are being estimated upon in office of general contractors. Architect H. D. Dagit, 435 Chestnut street, made the drawings, which were fully noted previously in these columns. The same architect has awarded the contract for extensive alterations to a Catholic lyceum in Camden, N. J., for Rev. J. M. Mulligan, of that place, to General Contractor R. P. Gallagher, 917 Sanson street. This alteration will include extensive interior alterations, including plastering, lumber, mill and carpenter work, painting, glazing and interior decorating, etc. Details formerly mentioned.

The work of alteration and additions to the property at the southeast corner of Eighteenth and Walnut streets has been started by B. Ketcham & Sons. The drawings for the work have been prepared by Angus S. Wade, architect, 1326 Chestnut street, and include extensive work in detail. The specifications call for the most recent systems of plumbing, heating, and ventilation, while the ornamentation will be upon an extensive scale, including tile and mosaic work, hard woods of various kinds, grille work of iron, etc. The interior will prove to be a model of general comfort and convenience. Mr. Wade will supervise the entire work until completion. The property is owned by William Weightman.

Architect Robson L. Percit, 619 Philadelphia Bourse, has prepared drawings and is now receiving estimates on alterations to Col. Henry A. du Pont's residence. This work includes artistic iron and bronze work, iron girders, copper and galvanized iron work, mosaic tiling, cut stone and brick work. The same architect has also prepared plans for two houses on Haines street, near the Old York road. These drawings call for three-story twin brick and frame dwellings, about 16.6 x 60 feet, with all latest improvements, including best plumbing, electric gas lighting and bell work, hard wood finish, plate and leaded glass, mantels and tile work, hot air heating, etc. Details noted when drawings are ready for estimating.

Architects Pritchett Brothers, 434 Walnut street, have awarded the contract for a residence that is to be built at Lancaster, Pa., to General Contractor George Oster, of that place, for Mr. Wm. W. Polz, of Lancaster, Pa. This residence will be built of brick, with stone trimmings and a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. When completed it will have a frontage measuring 26 feet and a depth of about 50 feet. All the latest modern improvements will be introduced, including steam heating, electric lighting, wiring, bells, annunciators, speaking tubes, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, tile and mosaic work, bath-room fixtures, plumbing and interior decorating, etc. Formerly mentioned.

Architects Stearns & Castor, Bourse Building, have finished plans and specifications for an addition to a machine shop in Frankford, Philadelphia, for Messrs. George Oldham's Sons, of that place. This addition will be built of brick, two stories high, with a tin roof. It will measure 20 x 20 feet. Excavating, masonry and brick work, roofing, mill work, plumbing, painting, glazing, etc. Owners are taking bids and will let the general contract. The same architects are at present preparing plans for a residence that will be built in Frankford, Philadelphia. This residence will be built of brick, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, and when finished it will contain every modern improvement. Cost about $4500. Details later.

What the Ledger Says About the Bourse.

The Philadelphia Bourse management are asking the stockholders to subscribe 37½ per cent. of their holdings in the new non-cumulative 6 per cent. preferred stock of the Bourse, the money to be used in paying off the floating debt of the company. The Bourse has $361,207 floating debt and about $60,000 of unsettled tax accounts. The editors have arranged to carry the floating debt until November 1st, by which time payment must be arranged. The Bourse has a first mortgage loan of $1,000,000 at 5 per cent. and the property has cost $2,250,371.

The fact is, there is a peck of trouble ahead for this peculiarly managed institution, and there is about as much chance for the stockholders to subscribe for 37½ per cent. or any other per cent. of this preferred stock as there is for two Sundays coming together, or the creditors of the concern surrendering their claims without pay.

The stock, outside of a slight demand for it among those having displays in the Exhibition Department—who are allowed as stockholders 25 per cent. discount from their annual exhibition charges—has absolutely no value whatever.

If the management of this "monument to the commercial glory of Philadelphia" (?) could be prevailed upon to appeal to the various business organizations in the city to save the building from the sheriff, and there is not a single thing about the entire institution except the building, machinery, etc., that is worth an effort, it might have an effect in again arousing the self-same patriotic spirit which prompted the subscribers to the stock to surrender their good money to be frittered away on an unprofitable office building.

To accomplish this, however, it would be necessary for the present management to back squarely down with a frank admission as to their failure in making it either a business success or the dominating influence in the business affairs of the city which was earnestly promised when stock subscriptions were solicited.

The Bourse is only another example of the shortsightedness of our citizens in placing small men in great places, and while we make this statement without a particle of animus, its truthfulness cannot be questioned, for in the instance of the Bourse it is too apparent.

The loyalty which many of the capable executive men who have been connected with the Bourse have expressed for its managerial pradox is worthy of admiration, and their modest acquiescence in its continued mismanagement can only be explained through a supersensitive dislike to interfere.

We have a large, wholesome building which is misnamed "The Bourse." Its construction and maintenance represent a great deal of money. The proper way now is to first save it from the hands of the sheriff, then dump on board the dead weight the concern has been made to carry from the start, reorganize with every business organization in the city as a factor in its management, and make a Bourse in fact as well as in a name.

Architect Notes.

Plans drawn by Architect Edwin F. Durang were submitted to the Bureau of Building Inspectors yesterday for a two-story brown-stone addition, 31 x 104 feet, to the School of the Visitation, at Lehigh avenue and Potter street.

Architect C. Didden, of Washington, D. C., is preparing plans for a $10,000 addition to a residence in Washington, D. C., for Mr. Robert Portner. It will be built of brick and stone, and will be three stories high. Architect can give further information.

Drawings by Architects Dull & Peterson, 1110 Walnut street, for Calvary M. E. Church to be erected at Forty-eighth street and Baltimore avenue, are still on boards for estimate by general contractors. These have been fully described in previous issues of this journal.

Architect Thomas Stephens, Masonic Temple Building, Camden, N. J., has finished plans for two stores and dwellings that will be built for Mr. Harry W. Headley, of Ocean City, N. J., at that place. These stores and dwellings will be built of brick, two stories high. Separate contracts will be let by the owner.

An alteration to the mammoth store of John Wanamaker, Thirteenth and Chestnut streets, is being contemplated. Plans and specifications are now being prepared by an architect whose name is withheld for the present. This alteration includes extensive interior work. Estimates on this alteration will be taken at an early date.

Architects Wilson Bros. & Co., Drexel Building, have made elaborate drawings for a perfect drainage system to be applied to the Roman Catholic Proctorory of this city, located at Fatland, Montgomery county, Pa. The details call for masonry, piping, filtration, and all the general machinery as well. Estimates are being made in the offices of Wm. R. Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street, and other contractors as well.

Architect Otto C. Wolf, 1345 Arch street, has awarded the contract for a residence that will be built at Penlyn, Pa., for Mr. George W. Rieger, to General Contractor R. M. Peterson, of Germantown. This residence will be built of stone, with a slate roof. It will be three-and-a-half stories high, with a basement, and when completed it will measure 40 feet on the front, with a depth of about 50 feet. The first and second stories of this residence will be finished in hard wood. Previously noted.

General Contractor William McShain, 2304 Arch street, will erect a store and office building that will be built at the corner of Fifteenth and Federal streets for John McCaren, of this city. This building will be built of brick, with stone trimmings. It will be three stories high, and measure about 29 x 60 feet. The following items are included in this contract: Excavating, masonry and brick work, roofing, cement work, lumber, mill and carpenter work, plastering, hardware, painting, glazing, steam heating, electrical work, including combination gas fixtures, wiring, bells, annunciators, plumbing, toilet-room fixtures, tile work, etc. Cost about $7500. Private plans.

Architect Thomas Bennett, 923 Locust street, has finished plans for ten pair of dwellings that will be erected in Tioga this fall. These houses will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings. They will be three stories high, with basement. The houses will have frontages measuring 30 feet and depths of about 60 feet. Every modern convenience will be introduced, including combination heating, electric lighting, gas fixtures, tile work, plumbing, bath-room fixtures, interior decorating, hardware, etc. The cost of these houses, including all sub-contracts, will not exceed $12,000. The exact location of this operation and the owners' names are withheld for the present.

Architects Hale & Ballinger, Twelfth and Chestnut streets, have awarded Henry Schultz & Son, general contractors, the contract for the erection of a stable that is to be built on Allegheny avenue, above Fifteenth street, for Henry P. Lemuth, of this city. This stable will be built of brick, with a slate roof. It will be two stories high, and when completed will measure about 35 feet square. Excavating, masonry and brick work, roofing, cement flooring, lumber and carpenter work, plumbing and draining, iron window guards, hardware, painting, glazing and stable fixtures are included in the above contract. The cost, including all sub-contracts, will amount to about $5000. Formerly mentioned.

Architect Charles Bolton, 1510 Chestnut street, has awarded General Contractor Bird P. Evans, of Germantown, the contract for an $8000 church that is to be erected at Thirteenth and Cumberland streets for the United Presbyterian Church of this city. This church will be built of brick and stone, with a slate roof. It will be two stories high, with a basement. The first floor will contain the main auditorium, class, pastor and Bible rooms. The second floor will also be divided into class rooms. Excavating, masonry and brick work, roofing, lumber, mill and carpenter work, plastering, hardware, glazing, heating, lighting, plumbing, tile work, etc., are included in this contract. Formerly mentioned.

All modern comforts and conveniences will be introduced.

During the summer vacation, which begins next week, the North Broad Street Opera House will undergo considerable renovation and improvement. Improvements in the electrical work, ornamentation and upholstery, painting and general overhauling of the interior will be done. Manager Southwell reports a prosperous season during the past year.

Mr. Gus Wilson, 760 North Fortieth street, will erect two pair of houses in the vicinity of Fifty-fifth and Lancaster avenue. These houses will be built of brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornices and tin roofs. They will measure 16 x 40 feet, and will be three stories high. Every modern convenience will be introduced. Separate contracts will be let by owner. Private plans.

The Contractors' Savings, Title & Trust Company desire to inform its patrons and the public in general that it does not contemplate the removal of its offices from their present location, on the first floor of the Betz Building, at any time in the near future, and thus correct an erroneous impression, which has evidently gained credence from the fact that another trust company has recently become the occupant of other portions of the first floor of the same building.

Proposals for the extension of the city piers will be asked some time in August, and it is expected that the contracts will be awarded as soon as the bids are opened. The city piers to be extended to the new Port Wardens' line are Arch, Race and Dock streets. Probably before Councils reconvene after the summer recess the work will actually have been begun, and there will be no possibility of a repeal ordinance being passed to prevent the extension of Dock street wharf.

Arthur Williams' Sons, contractors, will begin work on the erection of the eight-story warehouse for the Pennsylvania Warehousing and Safe Deposit Company on the 31st inst. The new structure, which has already been described in this column, will be built on the west side of Twenty-third street, above Race. The plans for the proposed structure were drawn by Architect Gustavus Wynne Cook, of Lansdowne, Pa., and it is estimated that the work will cost $100,000.

William T. B. Roberts, the well-known builder of homes in this city, has just completed the purchase of quite a large piece of land in the immediate vicinity of Willow Grove Park and bounded by the Doylestown pike, also near the Mineral Springs. The location will be known as "Grove Terrace." The land will be improved by the erection of a large number of fine houses, replete with every comfort, and surrounded by handsome walks and grounds. Lots, single and in blocks, will be sold by Mr. Roberts.

Chief Webster, of the Bureau of Surveys, has announced that contractors will be invited, within the next few days, to bid for the work of extending the Race and Dock street piers owned by the city, to the Port Wardens' new line. Under the provisions of the Delaware avenue improvement ordinance, this work is provided for, and the Mayor having vetoed the amendment to the bill providing for the lease of the Dock street wharf, there is nothing to prevent going ahead with this work. The plans for the new bulkhead, which necessitate a change of the sewer system along Delaware avenue, are yet in the hands of the Board of City Trusts. They have been informally approved by that organization, but the formal notice of this action will hardly reach the Director of Public Works before the last of the week. Then proposals will be invited for the work, and Chief Webster expects to see the improvements under way by the early part of August.

Harry Weeky, 202 Mutual Life Building, 1001 Chestnut street, will erect twelve three-story dwellings on High street west of Morton street, Germantown. They will be of Queen Anne style of architecture, of Pompeian brick fronts, built in pairs, 20 x 56 feet, with front and side lawns, all modern conveniences and improvements. Contracts for brick work, brick, mill work, lumber, heaters and ranges, tile work, plumbing, electric work, gas fixtures, plastering, stair work, cut stone, terra cotta, Spanish tiles, etc., will be received by Mr. Weeky in about a week. There will be front and side porches. The plans have been prepared by Harry Peale, Jr., Harrison Building, and call for one of the finest and most expensive operations in Germantown this season.

The corner-stone of the Eden M. E. Church, at Orkney street and Lehigh avenue, was laid on the 17th, and the structure will now be pushed to completion as fast as possible. It will be of Gothic design and of Holmesburg granite and Indiana limestone trimmings. It has a frontage of 90 feet on each of the other streets, the gable of the main auditorium facing the former thoroughfare and intersecting the gable of the Sunday school building, running transversely. The auditorium occupies the whole of the front of the building, and is 90 long by 60 feet deep. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1000, including galleries on either side. It will be furnished with oak pews. The lighting of the auditorium will be accomplished by large triple Gothic stained glass windows on three sides. In the top of the tower there will be a large belfry. The rear portion of the building, which is 35 by 90 feet, will be divided into two stories, the first being arranged into a lecture room and infants' room separated by glass sashes and communicating by doors with the auditorium. The second floor will be used for a Sunday school room, with three class rooms at one end, the former seating 650 persons. Previously noted in these columns.

The temporary loan for municipal purposes of $1,075,000 has become available after September next by the signature of the Mayor having been attached on the 14th of the current month. This affects considerable work in the various departments, among which may be noted as follows: Bureau of Gas—Laying of sewer pipe; for gas coal; for material, supplies, repairs and improvements at gas works. Bureau of Highways—For paving street intersections in front of unassessable property; repairs to paved streets and repaving around lamps, plugs and breaks in footways; repaving and maintaining unpaved streets, roads, drains and bridges; general repairs to bridges. Bureau of Water—General supplies, including fuel, etc.; repairs to machinery; for maintenance and repairs to buildings, grounds and reservoirs; for repairs and improvements of the distribution and expense incident thereto; for supplies, including fuel and labor at construction and repair shops; for laying service pipe; for improving reservoirs. Bureau of City Property—For rent of premises at Juniper and Filbert streets; station house repairs and improvements; purchase of lot in Eighth ward for fire station; for erection of bath house in Twenty-seventh ward; for purchase —At Norristown, Montgomery county, the directors of Charity Hospital have decided to erect a large addition to increase the facilities of the present building. The original intention was to erect a building to cost about $18,000, but it has been decided to limit the cost to $12,600 or $14,000. The proposed structure will be about the size of the present building, and will be located in the rear and connected with it by a hallway. It will be three stories high, of brick, handsome interior finish. PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JULY 28, 1897.

"Yes—the Bourse—is—Represented."

It is patent to outside observers that the management of the Bourse is dominated by those whose single aim is to reap the emoluments of office without the slightest regard for the rights of the stockholders, whose subscriptions to the stock were obtained through as clear a case of false pretense as ever graced the criminal records.

What single effort has been made since the day the doors were thrown open for the first time to carry out the purposes for which subscriptions to the capital stock were asked? None!

What great move in the way of assisting the sentiment of the business men of the city did the managers ever initiate? None!

What pronounced movement against inimical legislation, such as the mercantile tax bill, have the very few gentlemen who have dominated the concern from the beginning ever inaugurated? None!

What motive, sentiment, purpose or thought has ever been behind these few good-natured officials, except the drawing of fat salaries from the coffers of this bankrupt concern? None!

What other idea, then, than that of profitable employment could have prompted the gentleman who brought the idea of a Philadelphia Bourse before the public with a catalogue of promises of noble and heroic purposes which captured subscribers to the tune of a cool million of dollars, and who afterwards admitted in his address to the members of the Trades' League that the Bourse was only a large real estate concern, whose aim was to concentrate all business organizations of this city under its roof?

There is a refreshing sweetness even in the effervescence of a bottle of pop, for there is an honest purpose in its froth and sizzle; but the fulsome promises of those who floated the Bourse stock were as ethereal as a summer cloud. We mean the promises to make the Bourse organization a source of protection to the great business interests of this city.

At the recent meeting of the business organizations of this city, under the auspices of the Trades' League, held at the Bourse, to protest against the Mercantile Tax bill, which then only awaited the signature of the Governor to make it a law which would fasten upon the business men of the city an incubus even greater than the business conditions they have been compelled to face, the roll was called, and the representatives of the different organizations responded in a way that gave zest to the meeting, and inspired every gentleman present with the spirit of aggressive opposition the meeting was intended to express.

"Is the Bourse represented?" asked the chairman of the meeting, and from away back in the crowd a wee, tiny, familiar voice replied: "Yes—the Bourse—is—represented," and the Bourse was truly and consistently represented both at the meeting and subsequently before the Governor.

The State of New Jersey has, with great satisfaction, received from the contractors, Messrs. Roydhouse, Arey & Co., the new armory located in Camden, N. J., and designed for the accommodation of the Sixth Regiment, N. G. of that State. This building is an up-to-date piece of work in all its various details, and furnishes evidence of careful consideration in material and workmanship. Neatness, strength and resistance against vibration are essential qualifications necessary in the construction of such buildings, and these can only be judged and maintained by familiarity with such subjects, and where these elements are demonstrated as finely as in the armory of the "Glorious Sixth" there is little or no room for cavil or fault-finding. The firm of Roydhouse, Arey & Co. can be complimented upon the magnificent outcome of their labor, and this is but another added to the many great and massive structures reared by this firm throughout the country, and for which they have been especially commended not only by those directly interested as owners, but by the architects and supervisors of construction as well. The drawings were prepared by Charles A. Gifford, architect, Newark, N. J., and Wm. P. Feld, civil engineer, of the same city.

Hard Times for City Landlords.

(From New York Sun.)

In the upward movement of the stock market, and in the revival of general business which is beginning to follow it, New York city real estate does not yet seem to share. On the contrary, not for many years have there been so many stores and offices waiting tenants and so few tenants applying for them. Broadway and Fifth avenue are lined with empty windows bearing "To Let" announcements; on the Bowers and on Third avenue every block has one or more buildings vacant, and all over the eastern portion of the city deserted stores and factory property abound. Sixth and Eighth avenues make a much better showing, the premises offered being not more than one on every three or four blocks, but downtown "To Let" bills meet the eye at every turn. The consequent loss to landlords is not to be measured merely by the amount of the rents of this unrented property. Where old tenants have been retained or new ones procured it has been by making considerable concessions on previous prices, often as much as one-third, and in some cases one-half. Only the very poorest and cheapest property, which had already fallen so low that it could not fall any lower, has kept its former level. With all this, taxes, insurance and repairs are as high as ever, so that the net revenue to landlords suffers more than the gross.

Various causes have combined to bring about this condition of things, the principal one being, of course, the general depression of business throughout the country. New York is pre-eminently and almost exclusively a commercial city. It is not, like London and Paris, the seat of a great national government; it is not even the capital of the State whose name it bears. As a place of residence for wealth and unoccupied people it has few attractions. Its citizens are mostly engaged in making money, and if they are fortunate enough to amass fortunes here they go and spend them elsewhere. Many of this class indeed remain, after their fortunes are acquired, to take care of them, and while they are here do the best they can to amuse themselves. In the effort they make the city pleasant for money getters from other parts of the country, but the dominant purpose of both residents and transient visitors is none the less pecuniary profit, and when the prospect of winning it fails, the inducement to spend time and money here fails also. The customers for our shops become fewer in number, offices in office buildings are in less demand, the manufacturers of jewelry, clothing, furniture and similar articles have less work to do, and the weaker among them give up business and vacate their factories. The multitude of clerks, salesmen, workmen and employees of various kinds who depend for their support upon the prosperity of their employers, being also deprived of their incomes, have either to go away or to live as economically as they can upon their savings while waiting for better times. That this shrinkage both in the number and in the means of the spenders of money should also produce a shrinkage in the number of tenants and in the rents they are able to pay is a matter of course.

In Broadway, the Fifth avenue, and the contiguous side streets, as well as in the downtown office district, the enormous fifteen and twenty-story buildings recently erected have had a depressing influence upon older and less desirable property of a similar kind. One of the new buildings not only has accommodations for vastly more tenants than one of the old-fashioned sort covering an equal ground area, but it offers them far more for the same money. The swiftly moving electric and hydraulic elevators render the top stories, which otherwise would be useless, as easily accessible as, in olden times, the first and second stories were; besides which, the better light and air that accompany their altitude and the serene quiet which pervades them, give them special attractions to tenants whose business does not absolutely require them to be close to the sidewalk. For mercantile purposes, too, there is an advantage in the large space on one floor afforded by many of the new sky-scrapers, which merchants do not fail to appreciate. Thus, it has come to pass that, not only are the old-fashioned buildings suffering from the reduced ability of tenants, owing to reduced profits, but from a lack of tenants altogether. What the ultimate result will be it is difficult to tell. As for the vacant corner saloons, uses will be found, sooner or later, for this kind of property, but it is not likely that it will ever again yield rents as high as were formerly obtained for it. To tear down the old buildings and build more new sky-scrapers is hardly justified by the renting out ok at present. Altogether their owners are just at present in an unenviable position.

If company in misery can afford consolation, the suffering landlords in this city have it, in knowing that their brethren elsewhere are in no better predicament than they are. From the great Western cities, especially, comes the same story of lower rents and vacant property. The supply of buildings is everywhere in excess of the demand for them, and the rents, even of those which are in demand, have to come down. Owners of other forms of capital feel the effect of the same law. The profits of railroads, mines and factories are smaller than they were, and the refunding of railroad bonds now successfully going on at a reduced rate of interest proves that even those investments are not exempt from the common fate.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, AUG. 4, 1897.

THE Dingley bill was signed by President McKinley at four minutes past four o'clock on Saturday, July 24th. At that minute it became a law of the country, and not one second before, and all the editorial gush and all the political sophistry that has been uttered or can be uttered will not change the ex-post-facto clause of the Constitution, which applies alike to civil as well as to criminal law.

It is intimated that it is a question for the United States Supreme Court to settle. Why? There is not a retroactive clause in the bill, and if there were, it is a question, in face of the ex-post-facto clause of the Constitution, if it would have the least effect.

The Wilson tariff was the law of the land up to the minute President McKinley signed the new law, and who is there who will hold that the Wilson law was ever repealed until the Dingley bill became the law?

Common sense, reason and justice must govern issues of this nature, and political buncombe will have little weight in settling the question.

It will be remembered that the national bankruptcy law was held to be in force up to the minute when the act repealing it was signed. If the Supreme Court so held as to the bankruptcy law, it is not reasonable to suppose that it will stultify itself, as well as the ex-post-facto clause of the Constitution, by making the new tariff law antedate itself to satisfy public sentiment.

If the new tariff law had placed upon the free list an article which, under the Wilson law, had been burdened with a heavy duty, would the government yield its claim on several cargoes of such merchandise because the vessels had arrived on the morning of the day the Dingley bill became the law?

It is only fair that the new law, if retroactive, should be decided against the government as well as in its favor, and a proposition to admit free of duty goods that were taxable under the old law and free under the new could not be entertained for a single minute for no other reason than that it would be contrary to the law.

MR. CHAS. H. EVANS, the tariff expert, who has made comparisons for every tariff act since 1872, has made the following report under instructions from the U. S. Senate.

The comparisons deal with the Dingley and Wilson Acts.

The average ad valorem of all the schedules under the Wilson Act (law of '94) was 40.10 per cent. The average under the Dingley law is 54.66 per cent. The averages are figured out upon the basis of the value of importations in various classes in 1896.

The chemical schedule average is 30.67 per cent. for the new law, as against 28.53 per cent. under the Wilson law. The average equivalent ad valorem of the wool schedule is 86.54 per cent., against 47.62 under the Wilson law. The silk schedule is 53.41 per cent., against 46.96 under the Wilson law. The new earthenware and glassware schedule is 52.47 per cent., against 35 per cent. under the Wilson law. The metal schedule is 49.24 per cent., against 38.11 under the Wilson law. The wood schedule has an average rate of 17.49 per cent., against 24.76 under the Wilson law.

The equivalent ad valorem of rate under the new sugar schedule is given at 74.16 per cent., against 40.94 per cent. under the Wilson law. Tobacco is 121.90 per cent., against 109.06 under the Wilson law. Agricultural products average 38.42 per cent., against 22.44 under the Wilson law. Spirits, wines, etc., average 68.83 per cent., against 61.54 under the Wilson law. Cotton manufactures average 52.33 per cent., against 42.75 under the Wilson law.

INCREASE EXPECTED IN REVENUE.

The duties from the chemical schedule in '96 amounted to $5,619,239. The estimate under the new law is $8,423,084.

The duties from the earthenware, etc., schedule in '96 amounted to $3,006,839. Under the new law the estimate is $12,308,144.

The duties in '96 from the metal schedule were $18,196,416. The estimate for this year is $17,487,482.

The wood schedule produced $605,749 in '96; the estimate for this year is $2,439,536.

Sugar produced $29,910,703 in '96; the estimate for the new law is $54,207,642.

In '96 the tobacco schedule produced revenue to the amount of $14,859,117. The estimate for this year is $16,609,080.

The revenue from agricultural products in '96 was $7,727,614. The estimate under the new law is $14,587,601.

In '96 spirits, etc., produced revenue to the amount of $6,385,648. The estimate under the new law is $8,160,626.

Cotton manufactures produced $9,311,701 in '96. The estimate under the new law is $11,184,764.

The height of the building will be three stories. The interior will be handsomely finished in different kinds of wood, tiling, plain and ornamental glass, all modern conveniences and improvements. Work has begun on the foundations and will be pushed rapidly by the contractor, Thomas C. Henderson. —J. William Lee will erect in the rear of his creamery, on Pennsylvania avenue, a three-story brick stable, 43 x 67 feet. Steel beams, columns, etc. —The contract for the erection of the new Christian Church has been awarded to August P. Getz for $23,900. —Colonel Bingham, of the Army, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, will make a move to enlarge and improve the White House, which is now much overcrowded. His plan follows somewhat that of Mrs. Harrison, but on a smaller scale and not so expensive, the estimated cost being about $300,000. In his plan the present building is preserved intact, the enlargement being secured by the erection of two curved wings toward the back of the building, somewhat as shown in Mrs. Harrison's plan. Each wing would end in a portico facing south, and in case of more room being needed they could be extended. This extension would contain five or six bed rooms, a state dining room in the west wing and in the east wing office rooms connecting with the rooms now so occupied, besides a broad corridor, a large reception room connecting with the present east room. It is probable the matter will be brought up at the next session of Congress.

A Great International Competition.

The president of the University of California has inaugurated a movement, which, if carried out, will call for rebuilding the university on a grand scale. It is intended to offer a great international competition. The prospectus will be drafted by Prof. Gaudet of the School of Fine Arts in Paris. He expects to complete this in the early autumn. It is said that Senator Hearst's widow will bear the preliminary expenses and contribute money for one building. Subscriptions are already pledged for about $4,000,000. Prizes are to be awarded to competitors when anything of special merit is shown in their design. When the prospectus is drawn up it will be printed in all the modern languages and sent to all countries of the world. The jury is to be made up of Pascal, of France; Paul Wollot, of Germany; Thiersch, of Austria; Ziegler, of Hungary; Zaconni, of Italy; Norman Shaw, of England, and one from this country, who is yet to be chosen. In addition to this jury an Advisory Board has been chosen, including Alma Tadema, Puvion de Chavannes, Andre and Lanciani, landscape architects of France and Italy, and Knaeus, of Germany. To this board is to be added an American member, who is likely to be Augustus St. Gaudens. The business of the Advisory Board will be to see that the buildings are erected in such places as will best conserve and enhance the beauty of the landscape, and that the interior decorations harmonize. The jury will meet in Antwerp at the end of the time set for the submission of plans, and there they will judge of their merits. The architect whose plans, as a whole, are judged to be the best will probably be selected as the supervising architect, while the three or four whose plans are adjudged to be the next best will probably be selected to assist in the supervision of the work. The jury and the Advisory Board are to be perpetual. When a member dies the others are to elect his successor. The object of this is to insure against the possibility of someone getting on the jury or the Advisory Board who will want to change the adopted scheme of the buildings.—Exchange.

Bourse Must Have Money.

Stockholders Asked to Subscribe Money to Pay Off the Floating Debt.
From Philadelphia Ledger.

A final effort is being made to pay off the floating indebtedness of the Bourse, amounting to $400,000. It must be settled within the present year or there is danger of the valuable property being sold to satisfy the creditors. It is understood that, in the opinion of the management, the lack of proper appreciation by the business men of the city is the chief cause of the financial embarrassment in which the company finds itself.

In accordance with the latest plans of the management, a circular letter has been sent to the Bourse stockholders by President Bartol, requesting them to subscribe $18.75 per share and accept preferred stock. With the money thus raised it is proposed to liquidate the floating indebtedness. President Bartol's letter, after setting forth the advantages of the Bourse and referring to the general depression in business during 1895-96, states:

"During the latter part of the year 1896, and at the present time, the dark shadow of a floating debt has rested upon the company, injuring its credit and paralyzing its energies. The debt, which is fully represented in the value of the property owned, must be paid this year. The holders of the company's notes, recognizing the depressed condition of business, have given the company until November, 1897, to pay its obligations. If the notes are not paid at that time, or satisfactory arrangements made for the liquidation, there can be but one ending—viz., suit, judgment, sale and complete extinction of the present stock.

"The stockholders cannot, and must not, permit this result to come to pass. They cannot let this magnificent property be taken from them, and the Bourse as an institution to cease to exist. It may be somewhat ahead of its time, but the Bourse, as a place for merchants to meet, will yet become a necessity for Philadelphia, and its failure from lack of support, either physical or financial, would be a shameful reflection upon the business community of Philadelphia.

"The property can safely be relied upon to earn the interest of its first mortgage of $1,000,000 at all times. The stockholders should not be exposed to the risk incident to a fixed interest charge upon a second mortgage. There is only one safe and sure plan, viz., for the stockholders to advance the sum required to pay off the floating debt, and take for the advance the preferred stock authorized by the shareholders at the special meeting held April 27, 1896, as amended at the annual meeting held May 11, 1897. To equalize the burden fairly each share of the present stock of the company is asked to subscribe to $18.75 of the preferred stock, which subscriptions, together with the amount which will be subscribed by some of the loanholders, will produce $400,000, the amount required."

Architect Notes.

Architect J. C. M. Shirk has submitted plans to the Bureau of Building Inspection for a three-story brick factory building, 49.6 x 84.5 feet, to be built by Stacy Reeves & Sons, at the southwest corner of Third-fifth and Moore streets, for Mr. Rosengarten.

Architects Kean & Mead, southeast corner of Thirteenth and Walnut streets, are preparing sketches and plans for extensive alterations to a residence located at Chestnut Hill for Mr. Charles N. Nebard, of that place. Details will be noted later.

Wilson Bros., architects and engineers, Drexel Building, have made drawings for alteration and additions to the Insane Department at Blockley, as before noted by us in these columns. These will consist chiefly in an additional story and some minor detail work.

Architects Hale & Ballinger have awarded the contract for the erection of a hosiery manufactory for Rambo & Regar, at Norristown, to Contractor J. H. Focht, of Reading. The main building will be four stories, 46 x 196 feet, with boiler and engine houses adjoining. Work will be begun at once and completed about December 1.

Architect H. D. Dagit, 435 Chestnut street, has awarded the contract for an alteration to an armory located at Broad and Race streets, for the State Penitentiary, of this city, to Contractor Thomas Reilly, 1230 Filbert street. This contract includes a new brick and granite front and interior work. Mention was made when bids were taken.

William Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street, has been awarded the contract for an addition to a hospital at Broad and Catharine streets, for the Howard Hospital, by Architect Charles Balderston, 144 South Fourth street. This contract includes a one-story addition. It will be built of brick and stone, to correspond with present design. Details were noted when bids taken.

Mr. T. Melon Rogers, the well-known architect, whose offices are in one of the wings of Independence Hall, has been entrusted with the new work of restoring Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, to its original condition. As signs of decay appear throughout, it is found necessary to rebuild many parts, and, in doing so, retain its simplicity and colonial style of architecture. The entire restoration is under the direction of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association, and particularly of the Mansion Committee, which consists of Mary T. Barnes, chairman; Rebecca B. Flanagan, acting chairman; Eleanor W. Harrison, Alice Hill, E. A. Goldsborough and Harriet C. Comegys. The chief points sought are, original coloring in decoration, exact furniture of Washington's time, and general closeness of details to that period. The entire work will be supervised by Mr. Rogers for the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association and committee as named above.

Sharp, Chairman, Committee on Streets and Highways. L. E. Farnham, City Engineer.

From the same cause the fertilizing factory of Adam Louth in the First Ward was entirely destroyed and the loss stated to be about $45,000. It is altogether likely Mr. Louth will rebuild at once.

Edmond Molloy & Sons, contractors, have submitted plans for a gymnasium building and library for the Church of Our Mother of Sorrows, Forty-eighth street and Lancaster avenue. The building will be a plain structure, two stories in height, of stone and brick, with a mansard roof. The dimensions of the ground plan are 38 x 63.6 feet. Frank R. Watson is the architect. Noted in a previous issue.

Builders began estimating last week on the buildings that are to compose the model playgrounds at John Dickinson Square, Fourth and Morris streets. The plans and specifications were prepared by Architect Emil C. Tritten for the Culture Extension League. The buildings are to be constructed of stone, brick and iron and include two playhouses, each 20 x 70 feet; a music pavilion, two water closets, two covers over fountains and posts at the entrance.

The plans of the new wharves to be constructed by the city at Arch, Chestnut and Dock streets, are to be drafted similar to the pavilion wharves now in course of construction at New York. This has been decided upon by Directors Thompson and Chief Webster. On August 19th the former will open proposals for the widening and improvement of Delaware avenue, and the construction of new stone bulkheads between Vine and South streets.

Plans have been prepared for a handsome new stone and terra cotta church that is to be built for the congregation of the German Lutheran Church of the Holy Cross, of which Rev. Waldo Oeser is pastor, at the northeast corner of Ninth street and Lehigh avenue. Some time ago the first story of the edifice was built, and this will be used as a class room for the Sunday school. Another story is to be constructed for the auditorium. A two-story L-shaped school is also to be built on the east side adjoining the church.

Operative Builder John Stafford, 1606 Susquehanna avenue, will erect a dozen or more houses at Fifteenth and Norris streets. They will be built of brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornices and tin roofs. They will be three stories high, with a basement. When finished they will measure 20 x 40 feet. Hot air heating, electric combination lighting, speaking tubes, tile work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, plumbing, bath-room fixtures, painting, glazing, hardware, etc., will be introduced in this operation. The cost will not exceed $50,000.

Work has been resumed on the new High School building, at Broad and Green streets, by Contractor Robert Johnson. Operations were suspended some time ago, there being no money to pay the contractor, but, although he has already advanced over $10,000 on the work, Captain Johnson proposes to push it to completion. In September Councils will be asked to appropriate $100,000 for the purpose of partially paying for the work done and the rest of the necessary funds will be raised later. Captain Johnson expects to finish the work specified in his contract within a few months.

The Julte & Foley Company, of Pittsburgh, to whom was awarded the contract for the masonry work for the new bridge to be constructed across the Schuylkill at Gray's Ferry, is now engaged in removing a portion of its plant to this city, and will commence the work of erecting the piers and masonry, the contract for which amounts to $235,700, in the early part of next week. Proposals for the metal superstructure, paving and painting have not yet been asked, but will be in a short time, and it is expected that the entire structure when completed will cost upwards of $500,000. The new bridge will be erected 234 feet north of the present structure, which is maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and is in a somewhat dilapidated condition.

The Real Estate Trust Company, of No. 1340 Chestnut street, which is contemplating the erection of an office building at the southeast corner of Broad and Chestnut streets, has awarded to Contractor James Johnson the contract to tear down the buildings now on the site. Mr. Johnson expects to begin the demolition some time this week. The work will include the clearing of the grounds preparatory to the erection of the new building. William F. North, treasurer of the company, when asked what progress had been made with the plans for the proposed new structure, said that so far as he knew nothing had been decided on yet. "The Board of Directors," he added, "are still examining the plans submitted and may reach a conclusion at any time."

Some time ago the Sugar Trust, in order to strike at the Arbuckles, bought control of the Woolson Spice Company, of Toledo, Ohio, one of the largest coffee houses in the country, and now it proposes to convert the old Delaware sugar house, at Reed and Swanson streets, into a great coffee roasting establishment, from which the trade along the Atlantic seaboard may be easily reached. The sugar house has lain idle for some years, but recently a number of interior changes have been made in it, and already two consignments of coffee have been delivered at the establishment for experimental purposes. It is not likely, however, that active operations will be started for some time to come, as all the machinery needed has not been delivered yet. Much of it is to be imported from Germany. When the plant is completed it will give employment to a large number of skilled workmen.

Plans have been approved by Chief Eisenhower, of the Bureau of City Property, for the improvement of Wharton Square, which is bounded by Twenty-third, Wharton, Twenty-fourth, and Reed streets, and proposals for completing the same will be opened on the 13th inst. The grading, curbing and placing of the curbing around this square was completed last year, the original appropriation for the work made by City Councils being $7500. Of this amount $3362 was expended at the close of the year, when an additional appropriation of $5500 was made, making the total funds available for completing the improvements $8862. The specifications provide for sodding, the location of lamps of a design similar to those in use in Ontario Park, Thirteenth and Thompson streets, the laying of asphalt walks throughout the interior of the square, and a large and handsome fountain, to be located in the centre. This fountain is to be ornamental in style, of the pattern known as a wheat sheaf fountain, and will be the only one of its kind in Philadelphia.

In an interview with William T. B. Roberts, in regard to the purchase of land at Glenside and vicinity by Messrs. Widener and Elkins, Mr. Roberts said: "On account of my unusual and extensive sale of lots at Willow Grove I have for the past six months been looking around for a site to duplicate the venture, only on a much larger scale. When the Smith and Hamel estates were both offered to me I felt satisfied, upon investigation, that these two estates had no equal around the city. They contain 555 acres, all of which are admirably adapted for suburban homes, suitable for summer and winter. They extend from Jenkintown to Edge Hill, passing through Glenside, and from west of the North Penn Railroad to Hillside Cemetery, about two miles in length both ways, and having Glenside and Tacon Stations on the premises. There are numerous groves of trees, rolling country, fine views, etc. After Messrs. Elkins and Widener had gone over this tract with me they decided to invest, and it will now be opened in the most thorough manner, with fine macadam roads, beautiful walks and the introduction of gas, water, electric lights and trolley conveniences, to give this tract the usual amount of push and energy that we are accustomed to in matters of this kind. As soon as I have the ground surveyed I shall offer it for sale to suit buyers, as the tract is so large that we can accommodate people in all walks of life."

Were the Bourse's Energies Paralyzed by the Floating Debt?

The recent developments, which have appeared in the daily papers, as to the financial condition of the Bourse, not only confirm the statements made by this journal months ago, but they also establish the fact—that it alone has had the courage to criticize and condemn the volupituous mismanagement of the institution as well as the persistent purposes of its managers to ignore the cardinal principles, for which the concern was organized.

The president of the Bourse, in a circular letter to the stockholders, excerpts from which were taken from the Philadelphia Ledger, and published in our issue of August 11th inst., says: that

"During the latter part of the year 1896 and at the present time the dark shadow of a floating debt has rested upon the company, injuring its credit and paralyzing its energies."

If this frank admission is not confirmation of all that has been said in these columns, what is needed to establish, beyond controversy, the bankruptcy of the institution?

The president's statement that the "shadow of debt" and death did not appear until the latter part of the year 1896, is singular, to say the least, for a reference to a report made by the directors on May 11th, 1897, and published over the signature of George E. Bartol, president, it will be seen that the second paragraph of the report commences with the following words:

"Reference was made in the last annual report (for 1896) to the necessity which existed (in 1895) of providing additional capital to pay off the floating debt, incurred in completing and furnishing our building. It was found that the sum of $400,000 would be required to cover all obligations."

It would seem, then, that the "shadow" really existed in 1895, notwithstanding Mr. Bartol's failure to recognize it.

The president also asserts that "the shadow of the concern. This is indeed singular were it true. In the first place we would ask what single energy, leading to the fulfillment of the sacred obligation to make a Bourse, has any one ever been able to recognize as a part of the managerial efforts of the Bourse managers? What energies then remained to be paralyzed? The floating debt certainly had little to do with the renting of offices or exhibition spaces. It did not conflict with the well-defined duties of flunkies and supernumeraries. It must have been the floating debt then that deterred the management from doing its duty to the stockholders and the public in making a genuine Simon pure Bourse of practical force and good instead of the present unprofitable wantonly-managed sham and snare in which credulous stockholders are invited to empty their purses into the hands of the self-same officials who are alone responsible for the failure of the concern as well as the present immense floating debt.

Of course the scheme to obtain a further contribution of $18.75 for each share of stock will fail, as it should, and the only hope left to save the Bourse, as well as the honor of the city, is for the great daily press of the city to honestly disclose the futility of the scheme as well as the reckless mismanagement of the concern. Also, to insist upon the resignation of its officials, and then an earnest appeal to the trade and business organizations to save the Bourse and make it what it was intended to become and for which a million dollars were subscribed and paid, and which million of dollars were obtained in hard, solid cash from our patriotic business men (in the light of these recent disclosures) under false pretenses.

Sport Royal.

Sport Royal is the title of a finely-printed and well-illustrated booklet issued by an author whose large experience as a hunter of big game in the wilds of America, is rendered doubly interesting from the fact that he is our neighbor, our friend, and our earnest coadjutor in the work of advancing and protecting the vast business interests of the city through the Trades League.

Mr. Thomas Martindale, it will be found, can write as well as he can shoot, and, while his story is one of personal reminiscence, it excites the admiration of the reader for this truly busy man who, besides managing a prominent business concern, can find time to keep well posted on all matters of city and state; lead Trades' League Committees in fighting bad legislation, and, at intervals, steal away to the woods and lakes of Maine, to hunt the mighty moose and the nimble deer, or to the great Northwest, with its endless variety of fur and feather.

The book consists of 148 pages, making a well-told story of a most enjoyable outing, at the time of year when the warm red glow of the forest leaves make every nook a fairy bow.

THE American Architect says: "Although wages are about the same, or, considering the length of the working day, are rather higher now than at the earlier date, materials, especially where machinery is concerned in making them, are far lower. To say nothing of structural iron, which has fallen in price to a little more than one fifth of its cost in the early '70's, lumber, bricks, cement and other materials are cheaper now, perhaps, than they have ever been. After the great fire of 1872 the cost of bricks, laid in the wall, was ordinarily reckoned in Boston at $36 a thousand. Now, better bricks, quite as well laid, with better lime and cement, cost there in the wall, $15 a thousand. Moreover, fireproofing processes have been of late greatly improved and cheapened, so that an ordinary mercantile building can be erected, with floors, roof and partitions all of iron and concrete or terra cotta, for 10 to 15 per cent. more than it would cost with the cheapest wooden floors, roof and partitions that the law will permit. Considering the immense superiority in durability, in freedom from shrinkage and rot, in exemption from the constant repairs made necessary by such shrinkage and rot, and in saving the insurance rates, and of the fire-proof structure, it is surprising that any other sort should at present prices be built for mercantile purposes. It is hardly possible that prices can go lower. Even now American structural steel is sold in Germany and Belgium handicapped by the cost of 4000 or 5000 miles of transportation, in direct competition with the local material, made by workmen whose wages average 30 or 40 cents a day, so that any further fall is practically out of the question, and it appears to be certain, from the reports of contracts in the foreign professional papers, that an ordinary house can be built more cheaply here, notwithstanding the higher wages paid by our contractors, than it can be, using the same materials, in England, while our workmanship is, as a rule, far superior to that of foreign mechanics."

COLDEST SPOTS ON EARTH.

Places where the Temperature Never Rises Above the Freezing Point.

New York Journal.

The effects of extreme cold on the human body are curiously diversified. While a solid body at a very low temperature may cause a severe wound, the same temperature can be endured in a dry atmosphere. Similarly it would be impossible to live in water treated at 100 degrees centigrade, but air at that temperature would be supportable.

The lowest temperature of habitable localities have recently been ascertained. At Fort Rae the cold reaches 88 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit; at Irkutsk, 49 degrees below; at Verchojansk, Siberia, 67 degrees and sometimes 113 degrees below.

markable observations about the cold. He found it impossible to smoke, for his pipe became covered with ice. Every metallic object caused a severe burn at the slightest contact. The dryness of the air provoked an abundant and inconvenient perspiration. But in order to quench the thirst which raged in him he could not touch the snow, which was too much frozen. He might as well have poured molten lead in his mouth. The men as they marched were enveloped in thick clouds, provoked by the heavy perspiration which escaped through their furs. It then froze in small crystals and fell to the ground with a rattling noise. Ice did not form on the beard because the vapor of the breath formed immediately into snow. Sound could be heard for enormous distances. Meat was split like wood, and mercury could have been used for rifle bullets. Intense cold, he noted, paralyzed the intellectual faculties, movement and speech. Smell and taste weakened sensibly.

The reason why intense cold caused by radiation in the air can be endured, but not the contact of a solid object at the same temperature, is that air, like most gases, is a bad conductor of heat. When a limb comes in contact with very cold air it only loses heat little by little. Nature has time to react against the cold, which has no effect unless after a prolonged exposure. But when this limb comes in contact with a metal, which is usually a good conductor, the latter immediately takes from the flesh a great quantity of heat and tends to bring it to its own temperature.

Two Billion Dollars for Pensions.

From New York Sun.

The pension figures which were printed the other day have been copied widely and commented upon as significant. They showed that at the present rate of expenditure the annual pension list has been consuming more than nine-tenths of all the revenue taken in at all of the Custom Houses of the United States; or, again, if the customs duties are considered as paying the general expenses of the Government, the pensions have been using up not less than ninety-six per cent. of the total receipts from internal revenue.

This is striking, startling even, but it is the plain truth.

One or the other of the two great sources of the Government's income is devoted almost exclusively to the payment of pensions on account of a war that ended a third of a century ago.

The more sober and searching the thought that is bestowed by the Republican leaders upon this all-important subject, the better it will be for the financial condition of the Government and the future of the party now in power.

Let it no longer be considered the patriotic thing to accept without question, as a matter of course, any pension expenditure no matter how extravagant, as a necessary consequence of the war for the preservation of the Union, and a proper tribute to the heroism of the soldiers in the field. On the contrary, let patriotism study the facts.

Here are some more facts:

Thirty-two years after the end of the Civil War, the number of pensioners on account of that war exceeds by about a quarter of a million the number of soldiers actually engaged in service in all the armies of the Government at any time between the firing upon Sumter and the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. The army of pensioners after a third of a century is between thirty and forty per cent. larger the fighting army at any one time during the war.

In the period between the War of the Revolution and the second war with Great Britain, the pension expenditure culminated at $4,185,000 in 1804, about twenty years after the end of the Revolutionary struggle.

In the period between the War of 1812 and the Mexican war, the pension expenditure culminated in 1816 and thereafter decreased, with fluctuations, from $7,800,000 in 1816 to $1,800,000 in 1846. In the period between the Mexican war and the war for the Union, the pension expenditure was highest in 1852, when it reached $2,401,000. This is all according to the normal process of growth and decline.

Dividing the years since 1865 into four-year periods, each equal in length to the duration of the war itself, the increase of pension expenditure to its present stupendous proportions is thus exhibited:

1865-1868	$76,672,110
1869-1872	119,794,122
1873-1876	116,111,454
1877-1880	146,999,427
1881-1884	234,846,276
1885-1888	274,824,741
1889-1892	433,500,638
1893-1896	581,364,073

Total $2,004,172,841

Since the end of the war more than $2,000,000,000, that is to say, more than $2,000,000,000, has been paid out in pensions.

Now, the total cost of the gigantic military and naval operations which occupied the government from 1861 to 1865, including the pay and sustenance of all the armies, the building and maintenance of all the ships, the transportation of troops, the recruiting and bounties, the arms and ammunition and war material in its myriad forms—in short, every item of government expenditure on account of the war, save that for interest on money borrowed wherewith to continue the fight—is included in the official figures of the War Department and the Navy Department for the period in question:

	War.	Navy.
1862	$889,173,562	$42,640,353
1863	603,314,412	63,261,225
1864	690,391,049	85,705,994
1865	1,030,690,400	122,917,434

Total war and navy $314,228,996

Roundly speaking, therefore, we have already paid in pensions since the war two-thirds as much as it cost the government to carry on the war.

It will be observed in the table which shows the growth of the pension expenditures from $76,000,000 in the first four-year period to $581,000,000 in the last, that there is one period where there was a slight decrease, namely, from 1873 to 1876. We call attention to the circumstance that this was the point, about ten years after the termination of the war, when the legitimate expenditures for pensions, having then culminated, ought to have begun to decrease permanently. At that period the annual expenditures, having reached $34,000,000 in 1871, had fallen off to $28,000,000. The number of pensioners then on the rolls actually declined during this period from 238,000 in 1873 to 232,000 in 1876. The culminating point of legitimate pension expenditures had been reached in 1871.

It was just at the beginning of that period that James A. Garfield, whose patriotism and liberal disposition toward his fellow-veterans no Republican will deny, declared that the pension list was then "swollen beyond all account." "I am the last man," he exclaimed in the House of Representatives, "to say a word against voting pensions to all persons who deserve them. But I wish to say to the house that more frauds are being perpetrated on the government by claim agents in different parts of the country than from almost any other single source." In that same year, 1872, General Garfield, as chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, expressed the opinion, which we have frequently quoted, that "we may reasonably expect that the expenditures for pension will hereafter steadily decrease, unless our legislation should be unwarrantably extravagant."

And since that patriotic and prophetic warning of Garfield, the number of pensioners has quadrupled, the annual expenditure has increased fivefold, and the total outlay of the government has reached $2,000,000,000!

Proposals for the construction of the work bid for must be made upon the printed forms and be accompanied by a certificate that a bond has been filed in the Department of Law, as directed by ordinance of May 25, 1890. In addition to the security of 50 per cent. of the amount of the contract, required for the faithful execution of the work, the contractor will be required before commencing work to execute a penal bond in accordance with Ordinance of Councils, approved March 30, 1890, entitled "An Ordinance for the protection of sub-contractors as well as persons furnishing materials and labor for the construction of buildings for the city of Philadelphia, or for any other city or work." Full particulars of the amount of bond required may be obtained from the Chief Engineer, Bureau of Surveys. Drawings and specifications will be displayed in Room 418, City Hall. Should intending bidders desire a copy of same, they may be obtained by making a deposit of five (5) dollars for each contract required, as a guarantee of their return in good condition. This amount will be returned to the depositors upon the return of the drawings and specifications not later than noon of Tuesday, August 24, 1897. Parties failing to comply with this regulation may be refused plans in the future. The Director of the Department of Public Works reserves to himself the right to reject any or all bids as he may deem best for the interests of the City of Philadelphia. Thomas M. Thompson, Director.

JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, AUG. 25, 1897.

THE Evening Bulletin published, not long since, an editorial on "Detached Houses," a subject that should receive the attention of builders before the present rate of building makes the improvements suggested impossible.

No one can ride through certain parts of Philadelphia and not feel the dirt of pify at seeing the long rows of small two-story dwellings surrounded by acres of unimproved ground. There is every excuse for such dwellings in the centre of the city, but in the outlying districts, where ground is comparatively cheap, it is clearly poor policy to lay the foundations of future congested conditions.

Builders, like other people, ply their trade to make money, and at first it might seem that the present method of building was the best for that purpose, but it has been found that such dwellings, as now erected, soon become unattractive, and the tenants or owners move or sell to seek a more inviting or newer neighborhood. On the other hand the man who owns his home and has enough ground around it to render it attractive, not only enhances the comfort and value of his own property, but adds to the value of that about him. There is room in Philadelphia for thousands of just such homes, and thousands of thrifty people are waiting for a chance to buy or rent something a little better than that now offered, but who cannot afford the price asked in localities where some attention is paid to attractive surroundings.

Any feasible plan should receive encouragement that has a tendency to break the monotony of these long parallel rows of brick dwellings, with their usual accompaniment of cemented streets and sidewalks, which may be all right from a sanitary point of view, but suggestive of nothing so much as the corridors of some well kept jail. No provision is made for tree planting, no ground is left for lawns. In fact the sole aim seems to have been to cover the ground with brick and mortar, with the exception of the few feet of breathing space provided for by law. In the words of the Bulletin, "Where is the enterprising builder who will start the fashion of building detached houses? We are sure that success and profit await him."

E. D. Trymby's Furniture Store Greatly Enlarged.

It is extremely gratifying to be able to notice tangible evidences of business improvement. When an old and well-known factor in the business interests of a great city finds it necessary to extend his facilities to meet the requirements of his trade in dull times it is very evident that there is in the public mind a feeling of confidence which embraces the individual as well as the goods he sells.

Mr. Enos D. Trymby is as well known as a manufacturer of and dealer in first-class furniture as any firm in the city. His conscientious efforts to protect his customers, both as to price and quality, have gained for him a high reputation among those who are buyers of fine furniture. It is the confidence and patronage of such people that have necessitated the acquisition of more room, greater facilities and a greatly increased assortment of fine goods for the Trymby store, and the addition is certainly most desirable for both proprietor and patron.

The E. D. Trymby store room embraces 1007, 1009 and 1011 Market street, and is certainly the handsomest store as well as the most beautiful display of fine goods in the city.

Real Estate Taxation in Paris

Geo. S. Leplasse in N. Y. Real Estate Record.

The system of assessment at present in force in France dates from the year 1821, and is based on a land survey of the whole country, which was made in the early years of the century. No complete revision has ever been made since then, but a law exists authorizing any township to proceed to a new survey thirty years after the last one. Of course, a vast number of changes have taken place during the century, owing to the splitting up of properties, the planting of waste lands, and the construction of houses, and it is, therefore, not astonishing that the majority of taxpayers should be anxious to see the Register of Lands brought up to date. The taxable value of house property stands specially in need of revision. Cases could be cited of houses which are taxed on the basis of, say, $500, and which produce a revenue of thrice that figure; that is to say, they are taxed to day at the same rate as in 1821, whereas houses built since then are taxed according to their actual rental. On the other hand, many properties which have decreased in value still pay taxes on the basis of their former revenue.

In 1891, the latest year for which statistics are available, France contained 9,000,000 houses. The city of Paris contained 85,000 houses, and there were 4,000 vacant parcels.

Real estate in Paris is subject to two national taxes (like the rest of France), viz: The Real Estate Tax and the Door and Window Tax; and one municipal tax, called the Cleaning and Sweeping Tax.

THE REAL ESTATE TAX (IMPOT FONCIER).

The produce or yield of this tax is determined in advance each year in the national budget. The share thereof claimed by the State is practically always the same and is never increased except in great emergencies, such as the war of 1870. The share of the tax to be raised by each of the different counties is fixed by the Chambers, the county fixes the share of each district, the district does the same for each township composing it, and finally the township establishes the amount to be paid by each taxpayer. Any increase made in the assessment is always due to the County Councils, which have power to increase the tax for the purpose of meeting local expenditure.

In order to illustrate how the produce of the Real Estate Tax is divided, we may mention, taking the County of Indre-et-Loire and the town of Tours as an example, that about 49 per cent. accrues to the State, 34 per cent. to the county and 17 per cent. to Tours.

The Real Estate Tax is based, in regard to improved property, on the rental value.

Improved property is not taxed as such until the third year after completion, and only the full tax collected if occupied.

Property which undergoes extensive alterations is taxed as improved.

If a piece of improved property has remained untenanted, a certain portion of the tax is remitted—4-5 of tax remitted if vacant.

Land in cities is taxed as improved property if it is used for business purposes. If it is not used, it is only liable to the Cleaning and Sweeping Tax, described hereinafter. The tax is payable by the owner of the property.

The tax, as regards improved property, amounts to about 5 1/2 per cent. of the letting value, less one-fourth in the case of houses and one-third in the case of factories, for depreciation and cost of maintenance and repairs.

The valuations, as a rule, are only revised once in every ten years.

DOOR AND WINDOW TAX.

This tax is levied on every door and window opening on to the exterior, without regard to their form or dimensions.

For Paris, the tax consists of a fixed charge for each door and window, as follows:

Carriage doorways.....20 francs per year.
Simple ".....5 " "
Windows (every story).....0.70 francs=14 cts. per yr, and a small proportional charge, based on the net revenue of the house, the two charges together forming one single tax.

For the rest of France the Door and Window Tax consists only of a fixed charge, based on the number and kind of the openings and the population of the place. The larger the population the heavier tax, but, of course, in no provincial town is it so high as in the capital.

The Door and Window Tax is payable by the tenant, unless otherwise agreed in the lease, but in practice it is collected from the landlord, together with the Real Estate Tax mentioned above, and he recovers it from the tenant.

*In New York 10 per cent. is about the average.

SWEEPING AND CLEANING TAX.

The cost of keeping the streets of Paris in a remarkably clean condition, in which they are almost invariably able, the removal of dust and rubbish, etc., is defrayed by a municipal tax divided into eight different categories, as follows:

TARIFF OF TAX ON HOUSES AND VACANT LAND FRONTING STREETS.

	Houses.	Lots.
1 Category.....	14c per super. sq. met.; 7c per S. sq. met.
2 ".....	12c " " " " " "	6c " " "
3 ".....	10c " " " " " "	5c " " "
4 ".....	8c " " " " " "	4c " " "
5 ".....	6c " " " " " "	3c " " "
6 ".....	4c " " " " " "	2c " " "
7 ".....	2c " " " " " "	1c " " "
8 ".....	1c " " " " " "	.0075c " " "

The tax is revised every five years by the City Council, after an investigation. In fixing the same, account is not taken of the value of the properties, but only of the frontage on the street and the necessities of the street traffic. A lot, 25 x 100, on an ordinary residence street, will pay about $5 per year. The Sweeping and Cleaning Tax is due by the landlord, unless the contrary is agreed by him with the tenant. The tax is collected simultaneously with the other taxes herein mentioned.

This tax produces about $600,000 annually.

COLLECTION OF TAXES.

There is an office for the collection of taxes in each of the twenty wards of the city of Paris. The taxes must be paid in at the office of the ward in which the property is situated, and none other.

Taxes can be paid, if desired, in twelve monthly installments. Many taxpayers find it convenient to pay in installments.

The total sum raised annually to run the city government is about $60,000,000, made up as follows:

The Real Estate and Door and Window Taxes.....	$10,000,000
Cleaning and Sweeping Tax.....	600,000
Personal Tax or House Tax (same as personal tax in New York).....	5,000,000
Revenue from Corporations, Street and Business Licenses, Gas, Omnibuses, Tramway, Electric Light and other Companies, Charters, Octroi, etc.....	45,305,000

In round figures, total.....$60,000,000

So that one may form a better idea of the amounts paid by a real estate owner here, I copy the tax bill of a new apartment house on one of the prominent avenues.

A large area of the square is to be converted into a lawn, interlaid with artistically arranged walks. The model playground is to be about the centre of the square, and will be reached by two bridges over the bicycle track surrounding it. It is to be fitted up with a gymnasium, and the surface of the playground is to be several inches lower than the rest of the square, so that it can be flooded in Winter for skating. In addition to the playground proper there are to be two model playhouses, each containing gymnasiums, one of which will be for boys and the other for girls. Among the other buildings is to be a bandstand, and there are to be shrubberies, fountains and trees. There have been numerous donations of material for the projected work, and it is estimated that nearly all of the stone and bricks needed have already been promised. Among the material yet required is some more lime, sand, hardware, plumbing supplies, paint, doors and about 4,000 feet of lumber. In addition to the $5,000 expended on the square by the city, it is estimated that about $10,000 more will be needed to complete the work.

The attention of our readers is called in the present issue to the advertisement of the old house of N. & G. Taylor Company, Philadelphia, manufacturers of tinplate, and sole manufacturers of the celebrated "Taylor old style" brand of roofing tin. The present ad dwells particularly upon a contract which they lately secured. The United States Government, in this instance, invited proposals and samples from all the prominent manufacturers of roofing plates, and selected "the Taylor old style" brand over all competitors for covering the White House, or Executive Mansion, at Washington, D. C. We are advised by the Messrs. Taylor Company that this brand also covers old Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, in fact, covers almost every prominent building erected in the United States.

Our readers should know that this is the original of all the extra coated or hand dipped plates now on the market, and it is the only roofing tin that has the name of the firm stamped upon it for the purpose of warranting it. Messrs. N. & G. Taylor Company originated the idea, and were the first to stamp sheets of tin with the name of the brand and the thickness, the "Taylor old style" brand being the first brand to be so stamped.

The "Taylor old style" brand is made exactly as roofing plates were made in 1830, and then sold by N. & G. Taylor Company, and they can point to roofs in the old parts of Philadelphia that are just as good to-day as when first put on, nearly seventy years ago. Wear and durability are the claims made for this plate by this firm. Every sheet of this tin is hand dipped, and made without the use of rolls or machinery. The coating is not squeezed off, as by the modern method. It is also made by the palm oil process, no acid flux is used. It may be of interest to our readers to know that it takes twenty-five minutes to make a single sheet of this roofing tin, made as it is by the old fashioned process. Eight persons are employed to make this single sheet, whereas in the modern way of making roofing tin, acid flux is used in place of palm oil, rolls and machinery are employed to squeeze off the metal coating, and it takes a man and a boy just eight seconds to make a single sheet.

Further particulars as to the merits of this brand, and also samples and prices, can be obtained by our readers corresponding with the Messrs. N. & G. Taylor Company, Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, SEPT. 1, 1897.

MR. PRESTON, the Director of the Mint, has estimated that the gold production of the world for 1896 was $205,000,000, of which sum the United States contributed over $33,000,000. He believes the world's gold product in 1897 will reach at least $240,000,000, and probably $300,000,000 by the close of the present century, owing to the opening up of new mines in various parts of the world, and with the improved appliances and methods for extracting the gold from the ores.

THE subjoined information as to the number of vessels recently clearing from the port of Philadelphia will give some idea of the increased activity in exports: Eight vessels, loaded with 815,924 bushels of corn, and twelve others, carrying 12,625,288 gallons of petroleum, cleared for the port during the week, swelling the total shipments of corn for the year to 17,568,818 bushels and the total shipments of petroleum to 249,280,509 gallons. The increase in corn exported over the corresponding period of last year is 13,088,863 bushels; the increase in petroleum exports is 43,285,214 gallons.

THE Treasury Department has published a comparative statement of the resources and liabilities of all National banks in the country on July 23, 1897, compared with a corresponding date last year and with the last call made this year. The showing is highly satisfactory and indicates a gradual expansion of business, especially in the amount of deposits. The statement is as follows:

July 14, 1896—Individual deposits, $1,668,000,000; lawful money reserve, $344,000,000; loans and discounts, $1,959,000,000.

May 14, 1897—Individual deposits, $1,728,000,000; lawful money reserve, $410,000,000; loans and discounts, $1,923,000,000.

July 23, 1897—Individual deposits, $1,770,000,000; lawful money reserve, $413,000,000; loans and discounts, $1,966,000,000.

The item of individual deposits on July 23, 1897, shows an increase of $102,000,000 over July 14, 1896, and an increase of $42,000,000 over May 14, 1897. Lawful money reserve representing cash actually on hand in bank on July 23, 1897, shows an increase over July 14, 1896, of $69,000,000, and an increase over May 14, 1897, of about $8,000,000. Loans and discounts on July 23, 1897, show an increase over July 14, 1896, of about $8,000,000, and an increase over May 14, 1897, of about $43,000,000.

Cost of Public Schools.

THE commanding importance which education assumes in our social economy is indicated with considerable emphasis by the cost of our public school system. The city of New York is expending this year $6,000,000 for the purposes of education, besides $1,180,000 which it pays to the State. Philadelphia expends approximately on her schools, $3,500,000; Chicago, $5,000,000; Boston, $3,500,000; Brooklyn, $3,500,000; Baltimore, $1,200,000; San Francisco, $1,150,000; Washington, $1,000,000; Buffalo, $950,000; Milwaukee, $700,000; Louisville, $575,000, and so forth. These are some of the leading cities and their records. Of course the smaller cities and towns pay in proportion, some more and some less. This is education supported directly by taxation and exclusive of that vaster and higher education that is furnished by endowments and by direct payments of students and their parents and guardians, the amounts of which are not garnered for the pages of the census.

There are in the United States four hundred and ninety-two colleges or universities having 7,000 male and 1,500 female instructors. There are a hundred and fifty theological seminaries with a thousand instructors and nine thousand students, a hundred law schools, two hundred medical colleges with 250,000 students, of whom 1,800 are women; five thousand high schools, with seven thousand male and eight thousand female teachers, and about twenty-five hundred male and five thousand female teachers, to say nothing of special lines of instruction not included in this category.

—Exchange.

Roberts, to be built at Norristown, Pa., and a granite and enamelled brick vault in the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Germantown.

The Real Estate Trust Company, of No. 1340 Chestnut street, has accepted the plans of Edgar V. Seeler and Frank C. Roberts & Co. for the new sixteen-story office building which it is about to erect at the southeast corner of Broad and Chestnut streets. Architect Seeler was chosen from among eight other competitors who submitted plans for the new building some weeks ago. Since then the Board of Directors of the company have been examining them and on Monday last Mr. Seeler's plans were accepted. The new structure will have a front of 103 feet on Chestnut street, and 128 feet on Broad street. The Trust Company's present building, it is understood, will not be torn down but will be built over a portion of the new office building. The other buildings on the site are now being demolished, with the exception of the one adjoining the company's building at 1344 Chestnut street, which is occupied by a haberdasher firm. They have a lease which has fifteen months yet to run, but it was learned on good authority that a compromise had been agreed upon between them and the Trust Company, whereby the tenants agreed to vacate in a short time. As soon as they remove the last obstacle will be removed. The new building will be a magnificent structure of fire-proof construction throughout and with all modern conveniences. The first three stories will be built of granite to conform with the architecture of the present building of the Real Estate Trust Company. Above the third story Pompeian brick and terra-cotta trimmings will be used.

Work has been begun on three handsome residences for Mr. Lester A. Barr at Yale and Fourteenth streets, from plans prepared by B. F. Simmons. They will be three stories high, of Seneca stone and moulded brick, with handsome stone porches, tiled vestibules and bathrooms, interior finish of oak and pine, hot-water heating, incandescent lighting, cabinet mantels, etc. The cost will be about $8000 each. When completed it will measure 100 x 200 feet. Private plans.

Plans are being prepared by E. A. Roth for sixty-four dwellings to be erected at Seventeenth and Wingohocking streets, by John R. Scott, builder. A novel feature of these houses is to be the bicycle room, a place set apart for the storage of the family wheels, which now usually encumber dining and sitting-rooms, halls, kitchens and other rooms, to the discomfort of most of the inmates of the present style of dwellings.

The plans include a new ferry rack 207 feet long.

Secretary of the Treasury Gage is being urged to void the present plans for the U. S. Mint and place them for competitive drawings, or give the entire preparation to a Philadelphia architect. The latter proposition is understood to be the desire of Senator Penrose and Congressman Bingham. Both the latter gentlemen are much interested and want the structure to be not only an ornamental one but the finest of its kind in the world. The above suggestion is being considered so far as the superstructure is concerned.

Deeds were recorded in Montgomery county for the sale of valuable Abington and Cheltenham properties to William L. Elkins and Peter A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia. The purchasers acquire the John C. Hamel tract, with buildings, in Abington, for the consideration of $180,000, and three other tracts in Abington, partly in Cheltenham, from the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, of Philadelphia, trustees for the sum of $275,000. The selection of a design for the proposed new State House is causing Governor Hastings and other members of the Capitol Commission much worry. The Board of Experts has recommended eight designs, but it is very doubtful if any of these will be adopted. Under the terms of the programme of competition of architects the Commission agrees to select one of these plans, and further agrees to neither inspect nor examine any other plans. The right of the Commission to reject these designs is a question which Attorney-General McCormick will decide at a meeting of the Commission to be held in the executive chamber.

Plans are being prepared for a splendid new hotel in Atlantic City. The house will be located on a lot 100 x 100 feet in size on the beach front, opposite the Hotel St. Charles. The new hotel will have a frontage on both St. Charles place and Delaware avenue, and will command a fine view of the ocean. The cost of the building will be between $75,000 and $100,000. The external appearance of the building will be in keeping with its beautiful surroundings, and the interior will be as complete and convenient as modern hotel experience can make it. The house will contain 100 rooms, and will be a notable addition to the hotels of Atlantic City. It will probably be the first entirely new house to open its doors to the public next year. DEVOTED TO REAL ESTATE, BUILDING, ARCHITECTURAL AND INSURANCE INTERESTS

[ENTERED AT THE PHILADELPHIA POST-OFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.]

VOL. XII—No. 36.

PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1897.

$5.00 PER YEAR.

COURAGE and Faith and Hope are contagious just as truly as the endless variety of low miserable fevers which burn out the life of their poor victims.

A little girl was greatly worried over the cruel efforts of her brother to capture the harmless birds that fed upon the lawn.

She prayed long and loud, asking God not to permit the little birds to enter the trap. Then she prayed for Him not to allow the trap to catch the birds; and then she pitched in and kicked the whole business to pieces.

It is this self same faith and work that is needed now, Mr. Croaker, to get us back to normal business conditions.

Everyone but you is full of hope and courage. Take our advice: subscribe for the Philadelphia REAL ESTATE RECORD, and pitch in. Terms, $5 per year, always in advance.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, SEPT. 8, 1897

The Land Title and Trust Company's new office building now in course of construction at the southwest corner of Broad and Chestnut streets is exciting considerable interest, from the fact that its sturdy skeleton of steel overtops every other structure in the city except the high tower of the City Hall. This edifice is a fair example of the possibilities of modern steel and iron construction; and while buildings of the immense height—310 feet—of the Land Title building are familiar objects in both New York and Chicago, the Land Title and Trust Company will have the credit of occupying the tallest building in the city, and that, too, on one of the four most prominent corners. The proposed removal of the Land Title's office to Broad and Chestnut street is strictly a business proposition. The officers of the company are simply anticipating changes which are certain to come; in fact, they are already under way, and are apparently crowding the limited accommodations within the vicinity of Broad and Chestnut now affords.

The Land Title's new building is to be completed by November next, and it is expected that the company will spend the coming Christmas holidays in its new offices.

THERE is much in the way of example in the few days outing the Club of Northern Builders will take, commencing Saturday, September 11th, next. This will certainly prove a wholesome break in that everlasting monotony which is always associated with busy men, who, somehow or another, get the impression that the world will stop moving if they leave home for a few days. The name of Mr. H. Schultz, who is secretary of the Northern Builders Club, and who is one of the leading factors in the proposed excursion, recalls some pleasant reminiscences of a two weeks trip through Florida in which he was the hero of a gallant rescue of a pretty New England girl in which he received a bad foot wound. Mr. Schultz was a general favorite with the whole party on the Florida trip, and he will certainly keep the builders and their families moving during their coming excursion.

Wolsey and Architecture.

Wolsey's taste and knowledge of architecture must have been great. Who can see the tower of Magdalen College and doubt it? And Christ Church and Hampton Court, though mutilated, bear sufficient testimony to his knowledge and love of that excellent art of architecture which none but superior minds should venture to meddle with, for if it makes greatness and wisdom conspicuous to the world it makes folly so too, and therefore the more contemptible. Architecture is the natural constructive instinct of a great mind, the throwing off into palpable form of high thoughts. It is a part of that noble conscious ruteness which would build up institutions, the practical language of a governing mind. It is an empire in itself, in which genius loves to reign and be supreme. It was highly characteristic of Wolsey. We believe all really great men love architecture. A man who builds to himself a notable palace or house, and by his arrangements adequately shows forth and appropriates a fine estate, makes to himself at least a centre of the world, to which all things come or seem to come, and from which all thoughts radiate by enclosing apparently so much of the world's wilderness as he wants; all within his eye's reach is his real, and all without his imaginary domain. He creates the happiest delusion of space, regulates it by his own ideas, making it what he would have it and ornaments it to charm him. In a fair and magnificent mansion a man must, in some degree, feel himself a king, for his will has sway and room to move in. It has a tendency to elevate, to give him character, decision and that dignity which ever arises from repose within one's self; that need not be shoved and hustled from meditation and reflection by the too near proximity of ill-assorted things and persons. We look upon the taste for architecture as a national good. It is the means of raising families to a visible responsibility, giving them something to keep up and to hand down to others, greater than the littleness of uncultivated, unadorned republican man. The other arts require it, and all arts thus assisting each other, build up and constitute all that is beautiful in the world, visible and moral. How hard is it to give up anything we make and call our own. Now in nothing was Wolsey's superior greatness more shown than in the readiness of so large a sacrifice as Hampton Court. Had he pride, he had enthroned it here, but his pride was a part of him. Driven out forcibly from one place, it had a sure refuge in himself. Nothing, no outward act of malice or tyranny could rob the world's history of Wolsey. He knew it, and even in his fall was greatest. This noble fabric of Hampton Court was, however, readily resigned by Wolsey into the king's hands, who subsequently seized, too, his palace afterward called Whitehall. It is a curious fact, and one that marks a visible retribution upon things names and persons, whereby a sort of moral history of the world is written by a divine hand and carried on in continuance by striking incidents; it is a curious fact that these two places of Wolsey, as they are monuments of the rapine of royalty, so they are of the humiliation of royalty.—From Tesserae in the London Architect.

Estimates are being made in office of Stacy Reeves & Sons, general contractors, 1611 Filbert street.

The handsome residence that was to be built at Wynnefield Station, Pa., for Mr. Edward Moore, of this city, has been abandoned until Spring. The residence will be built of brick, with a tile roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. It will measure 40x70 feet. All the latest modern conveniences will be introduced. The cost will not exceed $15,000. Plans and specifications were prepared by Architect A. V. Porter, of New York City.

Architect Charles Balderston, 144 South Fourth street, has finished plans and is taking bids on an addition to a stable at Tenth and Reed streets, for the J. G. Kolb estate of this city. This addition will be built of brick and iron, two stories high. When this addition is completed it will contain all the latest improvements and attachments in stable fittings, etc. Doyle & Doak, 133 South Fifteenth street, are estimating. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Frank S. Riggs has been awarded by B. D. Price, architect, Atlantic Highlands, N. J., the contract for the erection of Whelen Home and an addition and alteration to the Sea Rest for the Women's Christian Association, to be erected at Asbury Park, N. J. It will be built of brick, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, and will have a frontage measuring 96 feet and a depth of 200 feet. All the latest improved conveniences will be introduced. The cost, including sub-contracts, is $45,000.

Architect E. V. Seeler, 338 Chestnut street, won the competition for the new office and store building to be built on the southeast corner of Broad and Chestnut streets for the Freeman estate, of this city. Details later. The probable cost of this building will amount to $1,500,000.

George B. Post and John Carrere, of New York; D. H. Burnham, of Chicago; T. P. Chandler, of Philadelphia, and Robert S. Peabody, of Boston, have been appointed an advisory committee in the matter of the selection of a government architect. It is said that the names of seventy applicants are now on file.

Plans were submitted by Architect Otto Wolf, architect, 1345 Arch street, for a two-story hall and restaurant, 34 x 65 feet, at 1207 and 1209 North Thirteenth street, for Henry Mosbach, owner, to be known as "The Casino." The structure, which is estimated to cost $9000, will be built by Contractor P. H. Somers.

Geo. I. Lovatt, architect, 494 Walnut street, has made plans for an addition to the store of M. A. Dempsey, at Broad and South Marshall streets. This will consist of a new show-room and other general improvements which include all modern conveniences. Estimates are being made on the drawings in office of John R. Wiggins, 1220 Filbert street, and other contractors.

General Contractor C. Schraeder, of Scranton, Pa., received the contract for a $125,000 store building to be built at Scranton, for the estate of John Handley, of that place, by Architect Holden, of New York City. It will be built of stone, brick, terra cotta and iron, five stories high, with a basement. All the latest improvements and modern conveniences will be introduced.

Plans have been submitted to A. W. Barnes, structural engineer of the Bureau of Building Inspection, for a corrugated galvanized iron covered building, 100 x 150 feet, one story high, with peaked roof, for the American Reduction Company, of Philadelphia, to be built on the Schuylkill river, 1200 feet below Gallow's lane, from plans prepared by Architect William Shuman Watts, at an estimated cost of $25,000.

Architect Addison Hutton, Fourth and Chestnut streets, has finished plans and is taking bids on plumbing, toilet-room fixtures, including closets, urinals, basins, etc., for toilet-rooms to be built at 481 Walnut street for the Spring Garden Insurance Company, on premises. This toilet-room will be built of brick, with a tin roof. It will measure 16x16 feet. Excavations, masonry and brick work, roofing, plumbing, painting, cement work and toilet-room fixtures, etc. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architect Isaac Pursell, 119 South Fourth street, has finished plans and specifications and is taking bids on a church to be built in Atlantic City, N. J., for the Oliver Presbyterian Church of that place. This church will be built of stone, with a slate roof. It will be one story high, with a basement. When completed it will measure 60 x 90 feet. The following items will be included in the general contract: Excavating, masonry and brick work, slate roofing, lumber mill and carpenter work, plumbing, plastering, painting, glazing and interior decorating, steam heating, combination lighting, tile work, etc. Cost about $18,000. Mention will be made when contract is awarded.

Architect Furness & Evans, Provident Building, have taken bids and awarded the general contract for a public bath-house, to be built in the vicinity of Berlin and Gaskill streets, to General Contractor John C. Wiggins, 1220 Filbert street, for the city of Philadelphia. This bath-house will be built of brick and iron, and when completed it will be three stories high. The following items are included in the above contract: Excavating, masonry and brick work, iron work, cement work, plumbing, toilet-room fixtures, painting, hardware, heating, electrical work, etc. The cost of this bath-house, including all sub-contracts, will not exceed $40,000. Mention was made when bids were taken.

Architect A. S. Wade, Hale Building, has taken bids and awarded the general contract to Messrs. M. P. Wells & Co., Thirteenth and Walnut streets, for an operation consisting of about 25 houses that are to be built in the vicinity of Forty-second and Girard avenue. These houses will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornices and tin roofs. They will have frontages measuring 16 feet and depths of about 63 feet. They will be three stories high, with basements. All the latest improvements and modern conveniences will be introduced, including combination heating, speaking tubes, tile work, mantels, wardrobes, grille work, plumbing, bath room fixtures, electrical work, including combination gas fixtures, wiring, bells, etc. The cost of these houses will not exceed $4500 each. Mention was made when bids were taken.

The specifications for the restoration of Independence Hall, which has long been contemplated and arranged for, have been completed and placed in the hands of Director Ritter. It is hoped that very little time will now elapse before the task is actually begun. The Director declines positively to give out these specifications for publication for the present. While it is not likely that there will be any change in their provisions as they now stand, Mr. Ritter desires to go over them with the utmost minuteness, and they are to be submitted afterwards to the General Committee on Restoration for final approval. The sub-committee of city officials associated with the architect, T. Mellon Rogers, realized from the first the importance of the duties entrusted to them. Mr. Rogers, in his capacity as architect, felt most directly the burden of responsibility. It may be said, in a general way, that carefulness is the watchword throughout the paragraphs of the specifications. The determination of all concerned with the restoring of Independence Hall has been to attain to absolute accuracy, so that the structure, when the work is finished, shall stand exactly as it appeared when the famous bell proclaimed liberty in 1776. The old "watch boxes" will again be seen in their places. The pumps, in good working order, that offered refreshment to the folk of that time, will be duplicated in every particular. So complete will be the restoration that the only discord in the reproduction of the actual scene presented by the State House during the Revolutionary days will be the attire of the people who pass and repass in these later times. From this it may be surmised that the specifications are unique in their way. The committee, realizing their value, has determined to prepare them for issuance in book form, the latter portion of the pamphlet containing illustrations of the front and rear elevations of the restored building, and also plans of the first and second floors. Contractors desiring to bid will receive copies, and the pamphlets remaining will be preserved as historical treasures.

At Peoria, Ill., bids are wanted until September 11th for the erection of an electric light plant, for the purpose of lighting the court house and jail. Address Edward G. Arnholt, chairman of committee.

At Wernersville, Pa., sealed proposals will be received until September 23, 1897, for the following articles for the quarter ending December 21, 1897: Underwear and notions, crockery, hardware, dry goods and blankets, mattresses, shades, pillows, curled hair, boots, shoes, slippers, clothing, tinware, carpets, oilcloth, matting, oils, packing, belting, hose, gum blankets, furniture, iron bedsteads, paints, glass, lumber, plumbers' supplies, steam fittings, stationery, brooms, brushes, mops, tubs, baskets, sand-paper, etc. Henry M. Dechert, president.

Sealed proposals for furnishing and delivering cement, broken stone, pebbles, fertile earth, steel I-beams, steel bolts, trolleys and rails, plumbing supplies, bronze castings and electric lighting plant at Pensacola, Fla., will be received until 12 M (noon), September 23, 1897, and then publicly opened. Information furnished on application to Lieut. J. P. Jervey, Engineer, U. S. A., Warrington, Fla., or to F. A. Mahan, Major Engr.

At Millerstown, Perry Co., William Kipp, Secretary of the Borough Council, will receive proposals until September 11th, 1897, for a 300,000 gallon reservoir, lined with clay, cement, mortar and stone paving; 8, 6, 4 and 3-inch cast iron pipes, specials and valves, double nozzle fire hydrants and laying pipes. Drawings and specifications by mail or at the office of the secretary, Mr. Kipp, or at the office of Howard Murphy, engineer, 326 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

tion gas fixtures, mantels, wardrobes, tile work, plumbing, etc. The cost of these houses will not exceed $9000 each. Private plans.

The drawings for the new structure to be erected in Camden, N. J., for the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Brewing Company at upper end of Second street, are being prepared under direct supervision of Mr. Adolph Segal, whose offices are in the Drexel Building. Mr. R. G. Oellers, city treasurer of this city, is the president, and W. F. Johnson secretary of the company. The above gentlemen, it is understood, represent the syndicate who will erect the plant, and the cost will be close to half a million dollars. The capacity will be about 150,000 barrels per year.

Messrs. Wright & Prentzel, 2043 Westmoreland street, will build about twenty houses at Old York road and Butler street. These houses will be built of brick, two stories, with basements. When completed they will measure 16 x 50 feet. All the latest improvements and conveniences will be introduced, including hot air heating, electrical work—including combination gas fixtures, wiring, bells, annunciators, batteries, etc.—tile work, plumbing, bathroom fixtures, etc. The cost of this operation will not exceed $60,000. Private plans. Separate contracts will be awarded.

The entire contract for the construction of the new bulkhead and the subsequent widening and paving of Delaware avenue from Vine to South street has been awarded to D. J. McNichol, and the limit of the contract was fixed at $475,000. The limit of the contract for sewers, awarded to McNichol some days ago, is $45,000, so that the first large municipal contract undertaken by that firm amounts practically to $520,000. The successful firm is said to have every facility at hand to carry on the work, and will begin operations as soon as the contract is executed, which will be within two weeks.

General Contractors Given & Longaker, 1506 Winter street, will build a parish house at Thirty-ninth and Locust streets for St. Mary's parish, on premises. This parish building will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be three stories high, with a basement. It will have a frontage measuring 33 feet, and a depth of about 100 feet. The following items are included in this contract: Steam heating, electric lighting, wiring, bells, batteries, etc., tile work, plumbing, toilet-room fixtures, interior decorating, etc. The entire cost of this building will not exceed $40,000. Work started. Noted previously.

On September 11th, the Northern Builders' Club, 8728 Germantown avenue, will give an unusually attractive excursion to last about three days. The points of interest visited will be Washington City, Old Point Comfort, Fortress Monroe and Norfolk, with some hours of deep-sea fishing. This will be a fine opportunity for a delightful outing. For information and tickets, apply to William H. Schultz, 1419 Ontario street, Tioga, Phila., or at club rooms, 8728 Germantown avenue. The excursion committee consists of Peter J. Foley, chairman; John H. Hinkle, William R. Coulson, H. L. Daird, and William H. Schultz, secretary.

Fire destroyed, almost totally, on the 6th inst., Nos. 121, 127, Water street and 128 to 134 Delaware avenue, all being four and five-story structures. It was impossible to get the losses upon all of the properties, as many of the tenants were out of the city. Of the buildings themselves, no estimate could be gotten. The three buildings, 121, 123 and 125 Water street, running through to Delaware avenue, and there numbered 128, 130 and 132, are owned by the Kennedy estate. The other damaged building is owned by W. K. Barclay. The buildings are probably worth about $40,000 or $50,000. It is likely re-building will be started as soon as the insurance and other details are arranged.

In 1896, Rudolph Aronson (The Casino Company) was dispossessed as tenant and occupant of the New York Casino, he having leased the property for a term of ten years in 1895. A decision has been made by one of the New York courts, giving the company (Aronson) the right to re-enter and take possession of the property upon the payment of a sum equal to the difference between the rentals received and the sums expended on the property during the term of dispossession. This case was fought upon the right of a lessee for a long term to re-enter within a year from date of ejection upon payment of arrears and costs. It seems the decision is to be appealed.

The Palmyra Filtered Water Company, that proposes to supply the city with water, has a unique scheme for the collection and natural filtration of water. The company, along the Delaware river, will excavate a number of basins—about eight—with a capacity of 250,000,000 gallons each, in a soil which consists of alternate layers of sand and gravel on a clay stratum, at a depth of ninety feet. It is the expectation that the basins will be filled, by percolation, with excellent water, which the company offers to sell at prices varying from $5 to $2 a million cubic feet of water, according to the amount, from fifty to three million feet to be delivered daily.

Charles McIntyre, owner, will build at once the following dwellings: One three-story brick store and dwelling at the northeast corner of Lingo and McKean streets; three three-story brick dwellings on the north side of Snyder avenue, west of Seventeenth street; ten two-story brick dwellings on the west side of Seventeenth street, south of McKean street; four two-story brick dwellings on the north side of McKean street, east of Lingo street, and two three-story brick stores and dwellings, one at the northwest corner of Seventeenth street and Snyder avenue, and the other at the southwest corner of Seventeenth and McKean streets. All of these structures will have Hummelstown stone and brick fronts.

The Etherington Company, Electrical Contractors, 112 North Broad street, show evidence of a decided improvement in business in the number of contracts recently closed by them, some of which are the electrical and steam plant to be installed in the Pascoe apartment house, 13th and Spruce streets, in which there will be used a 35 K. W. Onondaga six-pole electric generator, direct-coupled to a Water town automatic engine, and the following buildings in which incandescent electric lighting systems are to be installed: Deles Memorial Church, Philadelphia; East Park Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia; Home for Incapables, Philadelphia; Acon Club, Philadelphia; Ivy Club, Princeton, New Jersey; Sutro Hosiery Mills, Philadelphia; office building, 12th and Arch streets; several handsome suburban residences, and 480 dwellings in which high-grade electric house work is to be installed.

Allen B. Korke, general contractor, is the successful bidder on the foundations for the United States Mint in this city, and expects the contract to be signed at an early day. It is the purpose of the Treasury Department to have work begun on the foundation as soon as the contract is signed and the required bond entered. There is little probability that any change will be made in the plans adopted for the exterior of the building. The material selected for the exterior walls is white marble. A change may be made in this material, substituting granite, providing the change can be made without incurring an additional expense that would carry the cost of the building beyond the limit fixed by Congress. The entire cost of the building, including site, is limited to $2,000,000. Of this amount about $400,000 has been expended for site and incidental expenses. There remains, therefore, available for the construction of the building over $1,500,000. All the plans and specifications have been completed by the supervising architect's office for the interior of the first two stories, and work on the remainder is rapidly proceeding.

COURAGE and Faith and Hope are contagious just as truly as the endless variety of low miserable fevers which burn out the life of their poor victims.

A little girl was greatly worried over the cruel efforts of her brother to capture the harmless birds that fed upon the lawn.

She prayed long and loud, asking God not to permit the little birds to enter the trap. Then she prayed for Him not to allow the trap to catch the birds; and then she pitched in and kicked the whole business to pieces.

It is this self same faith and work that is needed now, Mr. Croaker, to get us back to normal business conditions.

Everyone but you is full of hope and courage. Take our advice: subscribe for the Philadelphia REAL ESTATE RECORD, and pitch in. Terms, $5 per year, always in advance.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, SEPT. 15, 1897.

ABOUT the first thing that strikes a tourist on arriving in any European city is the absence of litter in the streets, that crying evil of Philadelphia—waste papers and advertising circulars—being unknown.

It may be that paper has a value in foreign cities unknown to those of the United States; for in Paris it is no unusual sight to see people carrying bread and like articles without any wrappers whatever, while those by nature requiring some kind of covering, are generally protected by discarded newspapers—an economical makeshift that would not be tolerated in this country, but with the happy effect there, that use gives them a poshious circulation which prevents them from becoming a public nuisance. What their final destination is we are not prepared to answer; but to discover that all waste matter in the French capital has a value, it is only necessary to observe the care with which the street cleaners separate it into distinctive piles and carry it away, and leave in its place a street that would serve as a model for all that is neat and clean.

Even London, with its never ceasing stream of traffic, its seemingly inextricable tangle of humanity and vehicles, is by some means kept free from the disgraceful accumulations of sweepings and waste papers that disgrace many of the streets of Philadelphia.

In Berlin, should any one be so forgetful as to throw paper in the street, a policeman quickly informs the offender to pick it up, but in Philadelphia we have changed all that. An early morning walk in many of our business thoroughfares will discover the fact that the sweepings from stores and many places of business are habitually swept out on to the pavement and thence into the street to be left an eyesore to all who pass that way.

Of course, there is a law forbidding such practices, but like many another admirable law, it is more "honored in the breach than in the observance."

In New York City an effort has been made by Colonel Waring to abate this nuisance, and those who throw waste paper in the streets are arrested and fined. This has had a wonderful effect, the result being that the streets of that city are rapidly becoming the best kept of any city in the country, and the death rate reduced to a minimum, as the following extract will show:

"The cleaner the streets the fewer the deaths. President Wilson, of the New York Health Board, says that the decreased mortality rate in the metropolis this year as compared with that of preceding years is attributable to the improved sanitation. A foul city is pestiferous, a clean town is as wholesome as a mountain top."

Philadelphia might follow the example of New York with great advantage. Our principal streets are not so much the subject of complaint, particularly those having the smooth paving, but in other less favored parts of the city, men and boys, with a diligence worthy of imitation in a better cause, canvass every street and distribute advertising circulars with commendable impartiality, throwing them into vestibules and windows, twisting them about the shutter hooks even, to be blown by the first passing breeze to join their fellows swept from the steps by the housemaid's broom.

Of late years considerable has been done to give Philadelphia improved paving, but as far as appearances go—save in a few localities—the great majority of our thoroughfares are disfigured by this careless and thoughtless habit of depositing sweepings and waste matter in the streets. And no real improvement will manifest itself until arrests are made, fines imposed and our people taught that a street has some purpose to serve other than that of a dumping ground for all sorts of refuse.

The following table of fire losses for the first eight months of the past three years is interesting as showing some relation between prosperous and hard times and the ups and downs of losses by fire:

	1895.	1896	1897.

Removal.

The Globe Artificial Stone Paving Company, John F. Galbraith, proprietor, has removed its office to Room 1112, Betz Building.

Architect Notes.

Architect Allen Wilson, 402 Bourse Building, has made plans for fourteen three-story houses to be erected at Marshall and Oxford streets, for John Klebe. These are to be ornamental brick fronts, stone trimmings, and best modern comforts on interior. Separate contracts to be let.

Architect Thomas Stephens, Masonic Temple Building, Camden, N. J., has finished plans and is taken figures on a factory to be built at Camden, N. J., for a lace curtain syndicate. It will be built of brick and iron, five stories high, with a slag roof. It will have a floor space of about 6500 square feet, and will be built on the latest principles of slow burning construction. Excavating, masonry and brick work, roofing, carpenter, lumber and mill work, iron work, plumbing, electric lighting, painting, glazing, etc., will be introduced. Cost, about $50,000, excluding machinery.

Architect E. V. Seeler and Engineer Frank Roberts, 323 Chestnut street, are preparing plans and specifications for the office building to be built at the southeast corner of Broad and Chestnut streets for the H. G. Freeman estate, of this city. This office building will be constructed on the latest principles of fire-proof structures. It will be built of stone, brick, terra cotta, iron and steel. Details will be noted later. The cost of this building will, in all probability, reach $1,250,000. Mention will be made when plans are completed and bids are taken. Noted previously.

Architect Otto C. Wolf, 1845 Arch street, has finished plans and specifications for a brewing plant that is to be erected at Cambria, Pa., for the Cambria Brewing Company of that place. This brewery will be built on the latest principles of slow-burning construction. It will be constructed of stone, brick and iron, with a composition roof. It will be four stories high, with a basement. The brewery will have a floor space of about 9000 square feet, respectively. It is probable that separate contracts will be awarded. Bids are now being taken. The proposed cost of this plant, including all sub contracts, will not exceed $80,000. Formerly mentioned.

Architect T. F. Miller, 1519 Arch street, has finished plans, taken bids, and awarded general contract for a church, to be built at Fort Washington, Pa., for the Trinity Lutheran Church of that place, to General Contractor Sperry of that place. This church will be built of stone and brick, with a slate roof. It will be one-story high, with a basement. When completed it will measure forty by sixty feet. All the latest improvements in heating, lighting, plumbing, ventilating, interior decorating, etc., will be introduced. The cost of this church, including all sub-contracts, will not exceed $10,000. Mention was made when bids were taken.

Jas. H. Warner, one of the six architects appointed by Governor Hastings to submit to the State Capitol Commissioners plans for a new State Capitol and who submitted plan No. 24, which was accepted and recommended by the board of experts to the commission, announces that he purposes to take immediate action in the courts of Dauphin county, to test the legality of commission's action in setting aside the plans submitted and calling for second plans. Mr. Warner holds that the commissioners have exceeded the power vested in them by the Legislature, and holds that they are in duty bound to pass upon plans now before them. It is to determine the latitude of the power of the commissioners that the suit will be brought.

The proposed Capitol will not be erected in time for the meeting of the next Legislature, as required by the act appropriating $550,000 for a new State House. This was settled on the 9th inst., when the Capitol Commission, against the vigorous protest of Governor Hastings, rejected all the plans recommended by the board of experts, and will ask the architects for new ones. The Commission was in session in the Executive Chamber for nearly three hours discussing the question of selecting a plan for the proposed Capitol. Senator McCarrall, of Harrisburg, submitted a resolution disapproving the action of the board of experts in excluding from the competition of architects the designs of Harding & Gooch, of New York, and Furness, Evans & Co., of Philadelphia. The resolution also provided that the envelopes containing the names of the thirty competitors be requested of Judge Simonson, and opened, and that if the names of the authors of the two plans thrown out be found among them that all designs be sent back to the competing architects. Senator McCarrall and Auditor General Mylin spoke against the recommendation of the board of experts, and urged the adoption of the resolution. Governor Hastings was emphatically opposed to the resolution, and made a formal statement, which he requested to be placed on the minutes of the Commission. John M. Carrero, of New York, speaking for the board of experts, said that they had acted in what could be termed a judicial capacity; that their report should be accepted as final, and that they declined to make another examination of the rejected drawings. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 4 to 1, Governor Hastings voting in the negative. Those favoring the resolution were Auditor General Mylin, Senator McCarrall, State Treasurer Haywood and Speaker Boyer. The Governor called Speaker Boyer to the chair after the vote was announced, and retired from the room in company with Attorney General McCormick, who acted as legal adviser of the Commission. Professor Warren P. Laird, of Philadelphia, professional adviser of the Commission, protested against the adoption of the resolution as the representative of his profession. Mr. Laird also filed a written protest, which sets forth all the contentions upon which the action of the Commission was based is immaterial, and not germane to the vital points at issue, and that they are calculated to confuse and cloud the issue. A second resolution was offered by Senator McCarrall and adopted, after which the Commission adjourned to meet next Monday. Governor Hastings sent word by Private Secretary Beiler that he would not attend the meeting. The second resolution annuls and cancels all the provisions of the competition, save only those provisions describing the buildings to be covered by the designs and the grounds to be occupied thereby and the mandatory provisions limiting the cost of the legislative building. The resolution further provides that "In order to procure a satisfactory design with the least possible further delay, the secretary is hereby authorized to notify all architects who have previously submitted designs that the Commissioners will, at the Executive Department, Harrisburg, Pa., on the 29th day of September, 1897, at noon, receive such designs for the buildings mentioned in the aforesaid programme, as they, or any of them, may desire to submit, the Commissioners insisting that all designs submitted for the legislative building shall be such a size and form and provide for such arrangement of rooms as may be necessary for the convenient use of the General Assembly within the limit of the statutory appropriation; particularly requesting that in said design provision be made for the direct admission of light and air from the exterior to the rooms designed for the Senate and House of Representatives, and expressly reserving to themselves, after examination and conference with their architectural advisers, the right to reject any and all plans so submitted; also the right to fix the compensation to be allowed to any of the architects for such plans."

Secretary Alger has settled the controversy over the award of the contract for the construction of the six locks and dams in the Monongahela river, by rejecting all the bids received under the original call and directing that new proposals be invited for the work. James McCarron, of Philadelphia, the lowest bidder for the work at $623,188, having failed to furnish bonds to the satisfaction of the department, his bid was rejected. The next lowest bidders were Haldmaier & Neu of Chicago, at $665,324, and the next the Houston Construction Company, of Philadelphia, $699,615.

Chairman Dixon, of the Highway Committee, will at the next meeting of Councils, introduce an ordinance to provide for the laying of water and gas pipes without tearing up asphalt streets. The ordinance will provide, where the work is not very extensive, for undermining from the sidewalks instead of breaking trenches through the surface of the street. Mr. Dixon thinks there are many more breaks made in the pavements than are necessary, and claims that when an asphalt pavement with a concrete base is once broken through it is never as solid after as before it was repaired.

Plans are being prepared by Rowland W. Boyle, architect, 1208 Chestnut street, for a four-story hall for the T. A. B. Society of the Roman Catholic Church of the Visitation, Kensington avenue and Adam street. The first floor will be occupied as stores. Mr. Boyle is also at work on plans for a brick factory building for John O'Neil, at Chadwick and McKean streets, 36 x 70 feet; a Pompeian brick residence for W. R. Roberts, to be built at Norris-town, Pa., and a granite and enamelled brick vault in the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Germantown. Previously noted in these columns.

The subcommittee of the Committee on Municipal Government has decided to favorably report the ordinance to purchase the balance of the plot adjoining Star Garden Park to Seventh street, at an estimated cost of $53,000. The question of locating the College Settlement in the Sixth street end of the Park, so that the upper portion could be kept open as a public park, was favorably discussed and will be recommended to the general committee. The scheme to construct a plaza between Filbert and Arch streets, and Broad and Fifteenth streets, was brought up, but was laid over without any action being taken on it.

The Pancoast Ventilator Company, of 316 Philadelphia Bourse, shows evidence of a decided improvement in business, and has secured contract for a large ten-foot ventilator for the Manhattan Beach Theatre, at Staten Island, also a large number of copper ventilators from four to six feet in diameter, for the new Astor Hotel, New York City; Cumberland, Md., round house, 14 large ventilators and bases; copper ventilators for new buildings, 13th and Market, Philadelphia, and a large number of churches and smaller operations, all of which will use a number of the Pancoast ventilators, which are now conceded by architects to be the best.

Operative Builder A. Cowan, 2227 South Twelfth street, will let separate contracts on an operation of about one hundred and twenty-five houses that are to be built in the vicinity of Twenty-ninth and Reed streets. These houses will be built of Pompeian brick, with stone trimmings, galvanized iron cornices and tin roofs. They will be three stories high, have frontages measuring about 13 feet and depths of 50 and 60 feet. All the latest improvements and modern conveniences, including hot air heating, electrical work, plumbing, tile work, bath-room fixtures, mantels, wardrobes, speaking tubes, combination gas fixtures, etc. The operation will be started at once.

The dull season in real estate does not seem to affect suburban properties; at least, such is not the case with the operations of Wm. T. B. Roberts in the neighborhood of Willow Grove. Mr. Roberts reports the recent sale of sixteen lots at the Willow Grove Land Co.'s tract on the Germantown and Willow Grove turnpike and the Welsh Road on the hills above Willow Grove Park, amounting to $350,000; fifty-five lots at the Grove Terrace tract, opposite Willow Grove Park, amounting to $281,675; and eighteen lots at the Grove Terrace annex tract, on the Davisville road, a short distance from Grove Terrace proper, amounting to $250,000. From the above accounts, suburbanites in general appear to be making a move in this particular direction. This entire section is developing very rapidly, due largely to the advent of the trolley system.

Negotiations are said to have been almost consummated for several large dwelling operations that are to be started this fall. The largest of them, entailing an expenditure of about $50,000, will be started in the vicinity of Overbrook. With this object in view a number of operative builders are reported to have secured the tract from Sixty-first to Sixty-third streets, and from Oxford street to Columbia avenue, upon which they contemplate erecting several hundred handsome Pompeian brick dwellings, singly and in pairs. Other operators will put up similar houses on the south side of Lebanon avenue, from Sixty-first to Sixty-third street. Projects are also under consideration to build on Oxford street and Columbia and Lebanon avenues, from Sixtieth to Sixty-first street, and on the west side of Sixty-third street, south of Virginia avenue.

Quite a deal in real estate has been consummated at Atlantic City, N. J., between George W. Jackson and a syndicate of Philadelphians, among whom are some of our most prominent citizens. The object, it is understood, is the erection of an immense pier extending 3000 feet from the boardwalk into the ocean, and fitted with sun parlors, casino and general amusement features entirely new. Mr. Kennedy Crossan is named in the transfer, acting for the syndicate, composed of Dr. L. M. Filbert, the paving contractor; John M. Mack, James T. Windrim, ex-Director of Public Works; Aaron Freas, capitalist; J. J. Snellenberg, the clothing merchant; and J. L. Clawson, all of Philadelphia, together with William Riddle and a number of other capitalists of Atlantic City. Plans for the pier are being prepared and it is expected that the work will be completed before next season. The structure is to cost not less than $140,000. The plot of ground purchased has a frontage of 150 feet, and is 300 feet in depth. The price paid has not been made public, but is supposed to be about $150,000. Of course the drawings for the work will be prepared under supervision of James T. Windrim, the well-known architect, who is also interested, as indicated above.

Plans for the new play house for children, to be erected on Fountain Hill, East Park, near the reservoir, at a cost of $50,000, provided for under the will of the late Richard Smith, were submitted to the Committee on Plans and Improvements of the Park Board. The plans were drawn by Architect James H. Windrim, and provide for the most elaborate play house for children in the city. The style of architecture is strictly colonial. The house will be constructed of gray brick, with Indiana limestone trimmings. It will be two stories high, with a basement, which will be used as a children's run-around, and a shelter will be provided for bicycles and baby carriages. A portion of the basement will be set apart for a sick diet kitchen, where luncheons for sick children and their mothers will be provided. The grounds on which the play house will be built will be enclosed, and every provision will be made for the comfort and the pleasure of Philadelphia's rising generation. Plans were also submitted by John B. Gest for the ground plan of the monument memorial of Richard Smith to be erected at Centennial Concourse, West Park, under the provisions of the will, for which $50,000 was bequeathed. The plans were accepted, subject to the conditions imposed.

Washington, D. C.

The Naval Board which has been making inquiries as to the establishment of a government armor factory has returned to Washington. Considerable information has been gathered by the Board by its inspection of different plants and sites but no action has as yet been taken. The members of the Board are Commodore Howell, Capt. McCormick, Civil Engineer Endicott, Chief Engineer Perry, Lieutenant F. R. Fletcher and Ensign W. J. Chambers. It is stated that the Board will confine its work strictly to the following points: What steps are necessary to establish a government armor factory of sufficient capacity to meet the probable requirements of the act of Congress (deficiency appropriation act), submitting a description and plans and specification of the land, buildings and machinery necessary for such a factory, in accordance with the boards conclusions; and whether, in a government factory, the manufacture of armor only should be carried on, that is, by procuring the ingots by purchase, or whether the factory should include a plant for producing the steel necessary for use in making the armor, including a statement of the advantage, disadvantage or necessities of the case as ascertained by the board, together with estimates of the cost of an armor factory with steel plant included, and of one without such a plant. Also, the requirements of a thoroughly modern, first-class establishment should be scheduled and enumerated as much in detail as may be necessary to enable the department to form a clear and concise estimate of the scheme submitted, and of its extent, showing the probable cost of integral parts. The board will also, at as early a date as practicable, frame and submit to the department a form of advertisement for proposals to furnish a plant, as a whole, or any parts thereof separately, provided by the act of Congress. Under these orders the work of the board will involve more or less incidental consideration of the cost of plants and sites but, as determined by the board, it does not extend to the point of considering specific offers for the government purchase of property or establishments. The board will employ a steel expert to assist in the technical work, but the selection of this official has not yet been considered. A row of seven dwellings will be erected at F and Twenty-first streets, by Waverly Bros. They will be two stories high, of brick, and will be provided with modern conveniences. The plans have been prepared by Arthur B. Heaton. The estimated cost is $18,000. Frederick B. Pyle has prepared plans for a handsome cottage to be erected for B. G. Gaines. It will have fine interior finish, tiled bath room and vestibule, furnace heat, etc. B. Stanley Simmons has made plans for two two-story dwellings to be erected on Sixth street near B street, Southeast. They will be of stone, slate roofs, interior finish of oak and pine, tiled baths and vestibules, cabinet mantels, electric work, and all modern conveniences. T. M. Moxley, builder, will erect two two-story dwellings on Fourteenth street, between F and G streets, Northeast. They will cost about $6,000, and will be provided with modern conveniences. Mr. Blake Clark will erect a dwelling at University Heights, Brookland. It will be two story with front of rustic siding and brick, with considerable stone work, Latrobe heat, modern conveniences. Mr. J. J. Lampton has sold lots 1, 2 and 3 in square 1017, at the corner of Thirteenth street and D street, Southeast, to Mr. W. J. Hunt, of Pittsburgh. It is said to be the intention of the purchaser to subdivide the property in eleven building sites, which will be improved by the erection of eleven handsome dwellings, with all modern improvements. George E. Emmons & Co. has sold to Clarence L. Norment a fine lot at the corner of M street and Thomas Circle. Mr. Norment is President of the Central National Bank and will improve the lot by the erection of a handsome dwelling, for which, it is said, plans have been prepared. The corner stone of the Hebrew Synagogue will be laid on Thursday, September 16. This structure will be unlike any other structure in the city, being of oriental style of architecture. The front and towers will be faced with granite and limestone. The first story will contain school-rooms, assembly hall, library and a number of smaller rooms; in the cellar there will be a fire proof vault to contain the records; two fire-proof stairways will lead to the auditorium floor and thence to the galleries. The pacious dome, forty-five feet in diameter, will be a striking feature. The plans were prepared by Louis T. Stutz and Frank W. Puse. The cost will be $100,000. Captain Lansing W. Beach, engineer officer in charge of street paving and street railway matters, has a plan for keeping the paving under the charge of the street railway companies in good condition. The plan is for Congress to require the companies to pay into the district treasury a small but specified percentage of receipts, from which fund the district can draw such sums as are needed to keep the railways' share of the paving in good condition. Whenever the amount contributed by any company should go above a certain altitude, the taxation for paving would cease and would not be renewed until the minimum to be agreed upon should be reached. It is stated that the Potomac Electric Power Company has decided to issue bonds to the sum of $500,000 for the purpose of erecting an addition to the present plant and making other improvements.

Through Delaware.

At Rehoboth, Sussex county, it is said that a party of capitalists, of which William J. Thoroughbred is one, has bought the old Bright house and will erect a handsome hotel on the site.

At Wilmington, the new German Lutheran Church will be erected from the original plans and will cost about $15,000. Work was begun on the new steamer yacht Niagara by the Harlan & Hollingsworth Company for Howard Gould. When completed this will be one of the finest private steamers afloat. Howard B. Griffith will erect a dwelling on the Wilmington boulevard, and it is said a handsome three-story brick dwelling will be erected at Silverbrook (Wilmington) by Peter J. Ford.

DEVOTED TO REAL ESTATE, BUILDING, ARCHITECTURAL AND INSURANCE INTERESTS

[ENTERED AT THE PHILADELPHIA POST-OFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.]

VOL. XII - No. 38.

PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1897.

$5.00 PER YEAR.

COURAGE and Faith and Hope are contagious just as truly as the endless variety of low miserable fevers which burn out the life of their poor victims.

A little girl was greatly worried over the cruel efforts of her brother to capture the harmless birds that fed upon the lawn.

She prayed long and loud, asking God not to permit the little birds to enter the trap. Then she prayed for Him not to allow the trap to catch the birds; and then she pitched in and kicked the whole business to pieces.

It is this self same faith and work that is needed now, Mr. Croaker, to get us back to normal business conditions.

Everyone but you is full of hope and courage. Take our advice: subscribe for the Philadelphia REAL ESTATE RECORD, and pitch in. Terms, $5 per year, always in advance.
